PURDY DROPS SUIT AGAINST ROAD AWARD

Contractor and Commissioners Settle Dispute, Remove Threat to PWA Grant.

START WORK BEFORE JAN. 1

Agree in Future Not to Limit Bids on Any One Material for Road Resurfacing.

Richland county commissioners and W. W. Purdy, Mansfield contractor, today had settled their dispute over the awarding of a contract for a $68,000 PWA road resurfacing project, and the county was instructed by PWA officials to start work on the project before Jan. 1.

In order to protect the county from possible withdrawal of more than $30,000 in federal funds for the resurfacing, Purdy agreed not to file a threatened injunction suit against the commissioners.

Gets PWA Approval.

Meanwhile, the county today received approval of the PWA office at Washington for a contract awarded to the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company, second low bidder on the project.

The official federal approval listed the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company bid of $54,675 as the lowest on limestone materials requested by commissioners. The regional PWA office at Columbus had approved the commissioners' award and recommended final approval by the Washington office.

Purdy submitted a bid which was approximately $5,000 lower than the one which won the contract, but he quoted a figure on the use of gravel, contending that state highway specifications permitted the use of gravel as well as stone for resurfacing.

Agree on 'Wide-Open' Bidding.

"In the future, we will receive bids for gravel, limestone or slag without limiting bids to any one material in the bidding blanks," C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the board of commissioners, asserted.

Mitchell said Purdy requested the "wide-open" bidding before he agreed to withhold his injunction action which probably would have delayed approval of the resurfacing job until after the Dec. 31 deadline and caused the county to lose the project.

While preliminary work on the project must be started by Jan. 1, Mitchell said actual resurfacing of the roads would not be started until warmer weather next spring.

More than 33 roads in all parts of the county are included in the project. A total of more than 95 miles is scheduled for improvement.

Donahey To Seek Congress O. K. To Extend TVA Quiz

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Chairman Vic Donahey, (D.), O., announced today that the joint congressional committee which has investigated the Tennessee Valley Authority for a year will ask for an extension for its inquiry when congress meets.

Donahey did not say how much funds the committee would seek. The inquiry had $50,000. It was to have obtained another $50,000 but through an oversight during the last days of the session the appropriating resolution was sidetracked.

Donahey said the committee would recess Wednesday for an indefinite period, subject to call of the chairman.

Republican members of the committee—Reps. Wolverton, N.J., and Jenkins, Ohio, and Sen. Davis Pa.—have demanded privately of the Democratic members that the investigating continue.

The Democratic members, and Sen. Frazier, (R.), N. D., are ready to give the vast government hydro-electric-fertilizer farm program a clean bill of health.

Tonight's the Night--Dancing Feet to Fill Muster-Cheer Baskets

ALL OVER Mansfield today, people were dusting off their dancing shoes.

Even people who haven't danced for ages—because tonight's dance is a special one.

It is the annual Muster-Cheer Christmas party—and it is not only a dance but the smartest, big time-est show ever arranged for a dance in the city.

From tonight's dance, the Muster-Cheers, who are the American Legion. The News-Journal and the Warner theaters, hope to raise enough money to provide an overflowing Christmas basket for Mansfield's needy familes.

In years past, the Muster-Cheers have staged boxing shows, old-fashioned meller-drammers and revues. This year its a dance at the Coliseum.

And it is because its a Muster-Cheer undertaking that so many people are going—whether they dance or not.

Because the floor show will be worth it, even if they never dance a step. (We have a hunch, though, that the rhythm of Bob Richards' Westinghouse orchestra will make dancers out of a lot of non-dancers).

WHAT—Muster-Cheer dance, Coliseum.
WHERE—Coliseum, near North Lake park.
WHEN—Tonight, Nine to One, with floor show at Eleven.
WHO—Dance music by Westinghouse orchestra, directed by Bob Richards—all-star floor show including Jane Wilson, Ray and Trent, Two Maids and a Man, Marguerite Speas and Marty Hogan dance choruses, Westinghouse glee club. J. Gilbert Baird, master of ceremonies.
WHY—To raise money to fill Christmas baskets for needy families.
HOW—By paying 75 cents per person, or $1.50 per couple.

In the floor show will be Jane Wilson, who stole the show last year with "Sibonie" and a couple of other numbers. After a full year with Fred Waring's band, she's better than ever—and she was plenty good last year!

There'll be two smart dance choruses, trained and costumed especially for this event by the Marguerite Speas and Marty Hogan studios.

There'll be Ray and Trent—ace acrobats, who have scored tremendous hits all over the world—they're from Mansfield, and they'll be making their first Mansfield appearance at the dance tonight.

There'll be a Westinghouse male glee club of 18 voices.

And there'll be the Two Maids and a Man trio—Jane Weuthrick, Ruth Cox and Lawrence Chamberlain.

There are the highlights—there'll be lots more fun.

And here's a thought—if you miss the dance, you not only miss all the fun, with a bang-up show as the headline attraction, but you also miss a chance to do your bit to see that needy Mansfield families aren't hungry on Christmas day.

Dancing starts at 9 p. m. The floor show goes on at 11. There'll be dancing until 1 a. m.

The orchestra and the cast rehearsed yesterday after-

U. S. SEARCHES FOR 'OTHERS' IN ARMS PLOT

Federal Agencies Join Forces to Find More 'Higher-Ups' in Swindling Case.

BURY 'COSTER' TODAY

Widow Only Mourner as Ex-Convict Goes to Grave With 'Key' to Tangled Case.

BULLETIN

NEW YORK—(AP)—A Boston lawyer testified today he drafted, at the behest of F. Donald Coster Musica, a contract for the purchase of Lee-Enfield rifles by McKesson and Robbins, Inc., and Standard Oil of England.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The federal government opened a co-ordinated inquiry today into a vast international arms smuggling plot which officials predicted would net co-conspirators "equally as important" as Philip Musica, arch-swindler of his time.

As authorities began an extended probe into the $18,000,000 shortage in the crude drugs department of the McKesson & Robbins corporation—"milked," they said, to provide funds for the smuggling enterprise — Musica himself lay in a Brooklyn morgue.

Guarded Ceremony.

With his widow virtually the only mourner, he will be buried in a guarded ceremony during the day in the Cypress Hills cemetery in Queens, near his father, Antonio Musica, an immigrant Italian barber.

The distinguished-looking, 61-year-old ex-convict, who as "F. Donald Coster" became head of the world's third largest drug firm and ended a lifelong career in deception by blowing his brains out, remained in death the key enigma in a case of baffling complexity.

Although a number of other angles remained unexplored, acting U. S. Attorney Gregory F. Noonan said representatives of the six federal agencies in the coordinated inquiry would lay "special emphasis on the arms smuggling phase of the investigation."

Check Political Protection.

Another lead of possible national repercussions was the theory held by most investigators that Musica's empire of swindle and his reported traffic in munitions were safeguarded by political protection—bought with stolen millions.

Federal authorities disclosed that their chief clue in the arms smuggling inquiry was a recent letter to George Musica, alias "George S. Dietrich," assistant treasurer of McKesson & Robbins, ordering 250,000 rifles and 250,000,000 rounds of ammunition.

BROADER SOCIAL SECURITY PLAN APPROVAL SEEN

Board Ready to O. K. Plan to Aid 8,600,000 More U. S. Workers, Capital Hears.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(UP)— The White House announced today that President Roosevelt will send to congress early in January a special message dealing with improving the Social Security act.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The Social Security board was described by officials today as ready to parallel—at least in fundamentals—the recommendations of its advisory council for board extension of the federal old age insurance system.

The board will submit to President Roosevelt next month a yet undisclosed detailed program for expansion of the Social Security act.

The advisory council proposed last night that insurance coverage be extended by 1940 to about 8,600,000 workers now excluded and later to "the largest possible proportion of our gainfully employed population," including business and professional men, farmers and mechanics.

Protests 'Family Unit.'

Advocating the principle of protection for "the family unit," it proposed benefits for the wives, widows and children of insured workers and also creation of a disability insurance system to protect insured workers deprived of their earning power before retirement age.

With these expansion proposals the council made a third major recommendation — that present

POPE INSISTS

Officiates at Ceremony; New Illness Rumors Denied.

VATICAN CITY —(INS)— Over the objections of his personal physician, Pope Pius today won permission to officiate tomorrow at the inauguration of a new holy year, thus disposing of a Reuter's Agency report he had suffered an alarming new heart attack.

The pontiff will set in motion the new year of prayer and devotion with a benediction at St. Peter's church tomorrow.

He will also celebrate a special mass tomorrow at the Cathedral of St. John Lateran on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of his induction into the priesthood.

Ready To Make Gay Music For Christmas Ball

This is the band that will furnish catchy music for dancing at the Muster-Cheer Christmas ball at the Coliseum. It's the Westinghouse band, whose success has been phenomenal, with R. O. Richards wielding the baton. Beside playing for dancing, the orchestra will also accompany the chorus numbers and other of the floor show acts.

WARNS HITLER NOT TO 'ERR'

Chamberlain Says Britain's Peace Efforts Not Sign of Defense Weakness.

(By United Press)

LONDON—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain warned Germany today that "it would be a tragic error" to mistake Great Britain's efforts to preserve peace for a sign of weakness.

Chamberlain, in a vigorous defense of his program of appeasement toward the totalitarian powers, ended on an aggressive note which made clear that he did not view developments in Germany since the Munich four-power agreement as contributing toward peace.

"I am still waiting for a sign from those who speak for the German people," he said, "that they are prepared to make their contribution toward peace which would help them as much as it would help us.

"It would be a tragic error to mistake our love of peace and our faculty for compromise for weakness."

Give $30,000 to Church As Memorial to Frank Black

Widow and 3 Sons Set Up First Congregational Fund on Anniversary of Industrialist's Death.

A gift of $30,000 to the First Congregational church, from Mrs. Frank B. Black and her three sons, Robert, Roger and Donald, was announced by Rev. Peter Young, pastor, at church services yesterday morning.

The gift, which will be known as the Frank B. Black Memorial fund, was presented to the church, of which the Black families are active members, on the first anniversary of the death of Mr. Black, who was stricken while riding on his Raemelton estate Dec. 19, 1937.

Take Over Mortgage.

Rev. Young explained the use to which the donors requested the money be put. The sum of $28,100 will be used immediately by the church board of trustees to take over the mortgage on the church building, and the balance, $1,900, will form the nucleus of the memorial fund, he said.

Taking over the mortgage will eliminate interest, and payments through church pledges on the mortgage will be on the principal of the debt.

When the mortgage has been paid, and the fund restored to its original amount, $30,000, the income will be used for church purposes.

In his life-time, Mr. Black, who was founder and chairman of the board of the Ohio Brass company, had been a generous supporter of the Congregational church.

Commenting on the gift, Rev. Young said, "I am sure I speak for all members of the church when I say that we are profoundly grateful to Mrs. Black and to Robert, Roger and Donald Black for this gift, which they are making in loving memory of their husband and father.

"It will help to keep his memary alive among us. It will do more—it will help maintain the church in dignity and honor and to uphold all that it seeks to do in making religion a vital force in the personal lives of men."

OPEN AT LAST

Cut-Off Barriers Down Today, New Road in Use.

After repeated delays, the Windsor cut-off on route 42 northeast of Mansfield was opened to traffic today.

H. A. Kellar, district state highway engineer at Ashland, said workmen completed resurfacing work on a bridge in the center of the project Sunday and the detour barricade was taken down this morning.

Boyd Wierman, Richland county resident state highway engineer, had predicted that the cut-off would be open Sunday, but workers were unable to complete the surface treatment in time.

The cut-off, which will shorten the distance between Mansfield and Ashland and eliminate dangerous curves at Windsor, was paved with concrete slab and brick.

TRAVELS 125 MPH

New Streamline Engine Generates Own Electric Power.

ERIE, Pa.—(UP)—A giant projectile—a new type steam-electric locomotive which generates its own electricity as a motive power—shot down the rails today at a speed of 125 miles an hour at a demonstration before General Electric officials and railroad men.

The giant of the rails was developed by General Electric and Union Pacific engineers who worked two years to build a practical steam turbine power plant in the locomotive.

GUN KILLS WATCHMAN

DIES IN RESCUE

Boy, 9, Drowned In Canal In Attempt To Save Brother.

BARBERTON — (UP) — Richard Sheldon, 9, was drowned in the Ohio canal Sunday when he tried to save his eight-year-old brother, Donald, from the same fate. Donald was rescued by others.

The boys were playing on thin ice of the canal. The ice gave way under Donald. Richard tried to reach him and fell in. A rope was thrown to Donald.

Death Ends 71-Year Marriage As John D. Lewis, 92, Dies

Death ended a marriage union that existed 71 years Sunday night when John D. Lewis, 92, of 78 Wood street, died unexpectedly at the home of his daughter, Mrs Kenneth Whiteman, Marion.

Mr. Lewis and his wife, Harriett, were visiting at the home of their daughter when he suffered a stroke at 10 p. m. He died almost instantly.

The couple was married on Oct. 15, 1867, by Rev. M. J. Fiery, then pastor of the First Lutheran church, at the home of the bride's parents in this city. They celebrated their 71st wedding anniversary two months ago.

One of the oldest residents of the city, Mr. Lewis was born in Mifflin township, Jan. 31, 1846, a son of John and Christina Peters Lewis, pioneer residents of the county.

In 1916, Mr. Lewis came to Mansfield and became affiliated with the Mansfield Lumber company. He remained in the employe

TELLS ENVOYS U. S., ARGENTINA NEAR ACCORD

Chairman Says Differences Being Adjusted After Landon's Speech.

(By Associated Press)

LIMA—Delegates to the Pan-American conference expressed the belief today that Alf M. Landon's speech emphasizing the Monroe doctrine was highly distasteful to Argentina, which already had differences with the United States on the question of continental solidarity and defense.

A few hours after the speech, however, Isidoro Ruiz Moreno, chairman of the Argentine delegation, declared "we already have smoothed out some differences and I am sure a complete accord will be reached."

Argentina has been fighting the United States on the matter of continental solidarity ever since the conference opened.

Stands Pat on Views.

She refuses to approve any pact against aggression or any strong declaration that applies only to "outside aggression," claiming that the United States is a potential threat to Latin Americans nations because they have no assurances President Roosevelt's "good neighbor" policy would continue under a different regime.

The Argentine delegates were quick to point out that Landon, the Republican presidential nominee in 1936, did not give such assurances.

Landon spoke in a world-wide broadcast last night. The speech was delivered outside the conference hall, but it was generally agreed it would have a definite effect on the conference itself.

He declared that the people of tthe Americas were "horrified and shocked" by the "incredible brutality" of the world on "both sides of us," asserting that the United States, regardless of the party in power in Washington, would "not tolerate any foreign government gaining a foothold on this continent."

GIRL MISSING

Pennsy Police Fear She's Sex Maniac Victim.

KINGSTON, Pa. — (INS) — A pretty 20-year-old business college graduate whose desire for a job apparently caused her to fall victim to a man posing as a prospective employer was sought throughout eastern states today.

State police are convinced the girl, Margaret Martin, has been kidnaped but not for ransom. She has not been seen or heard from since Saturday morning when she left home to meet a man with whom she had made an appointment by telephone.

Authorities are inclined to believe the prospective employer was a sex maniac.

Swindler's Widow

Here is a new portrait of Mrs. "F. Donald Coster," former Carrie Jenkins Hubbard, whose husband killed himself in Fairfield, Conn., after being unmasked as Philip Musica of the notorious Musica family.

PUBLISH HAHN 'CONFESSION'

Cleveland, Columbus Papers Publish Stories Telling of 4 Poison Murders.

A copyrighted article purporting to be Anna Hahn's own confession of four poison murders was carried in two morning papers today.

It was signed by Mrs. Hahn, who died in the electric chair Dec. 7, for the poison murder of Jacob Wagner, aged Cincinnatian.

Gov. Martin L. Davey was quoted in the Ohio State Journal, which carried the Hahn confession, as having no comment. Davey refused to intervene for Mrs. Hahn, although her attorneys made every effort to have him commute her sentence to life imprisonment. She was the first woman ever to die in the Ohio electric chair.

According to the Ohio State Journal, the governor, when asked for a statement, said:

"I am sorry that I have none. It would be quite out of place for me to make any comment."

In refusing to act on appeals for clemency toward Mrs. Hahn, the governor referred to the cold bloodedness of her crimes.

Although convicted of only one poison murder, Mrs. Hahn had been accused of four, and Dudley Outcalt, Hamilton county prosecutor, said in his charge to the jury at the conclusion of the trial of the 32-year-old German woman, that those four were "pointing their bony fingers at her from the four corners of the courtroom while they said 'you did this to me, you caused me to die a death of agony.'"

Hopeful of clemency to the last, Mrs. Hahn at no time during her stay in death row claimed she was innocent of the crimes charged to her.

OPEN TO ALL

Chamberlain Says Suez Canal Treaty Can't Be Altered.

LONDON—(U.P.)—Status of the Suez canal cannot be altered without the consent of the parties to the canal convention of 1888, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told a questioner in the house of commons today.

Under the treaty of 1888, Britain, Germany, Austria, Spain, France, Italy, The Netherlands, Russia and Turkey agreed that the canal "shall always be free and open, in time of war as in peace, to every vessel of commerce or of war, without distinction of flag."

Chamberlain's statement was in reply to a request of Arthur Henderson, laborite, for an assurance that the British government would not agree to any alterations in the status of the Suez canal without consulting the 1888 signatories.

3 Stations Set Up In City For Job Insurance Registrations

The location of three "scheduling stations" in Mansfield to be opened Dec. 27 along with 80 others throughout the state was announced by the state unemployment compensation commission today which planned for the speedy registration of an estimated 300,000 persons who are expected to apply for job insurance benefits after Jan. 1.

The "stations" in addition to the 60 branch offices of the commission, are being prepared for issuance of appointment cards, Dec. 27-31, inclusive, designating the date and time reserved for an appointment to register and file a claim.

Goodies for Holiday Gifts

A home-cooked fruit pudding ready to be mailed as a gift in the heat-resistant glass casserole in which it was cooked. This is how it's made: 2 lbs. seedless raisins, 1 lb. seeded raisins, ¼ lb. candied orange peel, ¼ lb. candied cherries, ½ lb. citron, ½ lb. dates, ½ lb. figs, ½ lb. blanched almonds, ½ lb. flour, ½ lb. butter, ½ lb. granulated sugar, 6 eggs, well beaten, 1 cup sour milk, 1½ cups currant jelly, 1 tablespoon vanilla extract, 1½ teaspoons salt, 2 teaspoons nutmeg, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon allspice, ¼ teaspoon cloves, ¾ teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder. Sift together rest of flour, the salt, nutmeg, cinnamon, allspice, cloves, soda and baking powder. Add flour mixture through a sifter to the egg mixture. Beat until smooth. Stir in dredged fruits and nuts. Pour into well-greased heat-resistant glass casseroles. (Use three one-quart casseroles or two one and one-half quart casseroles.) Put covers on dishes and bake in a 275° F. oven for two and one-half hours. Remove from oven. Cool without removing covers. If desired, seal edges, where cover joins dish, with paraffin. This makes about five pounds of pudding.

Delicacies From Kitchen Can Be Given to Favored Friends

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
AP Feature Service Writer.

If you're a good cook you've got an answer to a lot of your Christmas gift problems right in your skillet. You can give packages of food you have made yourself.

It may mean extra work, but that kind of a present often is most acceptable. That's especially true if you have a reputation among your friends for making some one thing especially well—a tangy salad dressing, fruit cookies or, perhaps, candied fruit peel. Those are some suggestions. A pudding put up in a glass or pottery container and ready to pop into the oven and heat is a fine gift. Or send it in a muffin tin or a ring mold.

For A Bachelor Girl.

If you have a bachelor girl friend you might send her the makings, or part of the makings, of a Christmas meal in case she wants to do some entertaining herself. (Of course, if you planned that, you should let her know in advance so she won't stock up.)

You can send over on Christmas morning a roasted chicken or half a baked ham, fruit cocktail or soup, some freshly cooked vegetables, cranberry jelly. And top it off with a big mince pie, ready for reheating.

And don't forget those jellies, jams and pickles you put up last summer especially with Christmas in mind. They just need to be wrapped in holiday fashion.

A Christmas surprise package makes a fine family gift. Get a large box and line it with waxed paper. Cover with cookies, tightly packed and spread with waxed paper. Add a layer of candied fruits, stuffed dates and fruit strings. Cover these with more waxed paper and on top place delicious home-made candies. Fill in the chinks with salted or glazed nutmeats candied orange leel.

For a business girl a large sized box of Christmas goodies will help solve her problem for evening snacks when friends drop in. Select jars with tightly fitting lids to hold the confections to keep them fresh.

How About Cookies?

The full cooky jar as a present is hard to beat. Fill a fancy or plain jar with several varieties of home-made cookies, kinds that keep well. Tie a fancy paper over the top of the jar and add some pines cones or holiday greens.

And don't forget the bachelor friend who likes to cook. A box of assorted sandwich spreads, some salad dressing, a bottle some salad dressing, a bottle of chutney chili sauce and some spiced peaches will make a present for him. If your bachelor is not a housekeep, end a large box of chocolate fudge, penoche, peanut brittle and stuffed dates.

Quick Tricks For Holiday Fixing

Christmas dinner is a joyous family affair with the hostess planning for days ahead so everything will be "just right." The main dishes of the menu are usually traditional in each home but the modern hostess likes to add tasty and colorful frills to the dinner. For instance, if a seafood cocktail is to be served, little toast rounds or strips, hot from the broiler and sprinkled with grated cheese and paprika, make a delicious accompaniment.

* * *

If you plan to serve chilled tomato juice before the family come to the table on Christmas, why not top the glasses with sprigs of parsley? It gives the proper red and green effect. Colorful canapes to serve with the cocktail can be made by decorating toast rounds, spread with cream cheese, with bits of red pimento and green pepper.

* * *

Clever "appetite teasers" to serve with tomato juice or cocktails before holiday dinners are Chutney Biscuits. Stick tiny rounds of biscuit dough three times with a fork. After baking, and while still hot, break the biscuits apart and put a teaspoonful of chutney between the layers, serve at once.

* * *

Hot rolls, light and golden brown, seem to be a "must" at Christmas dinner. To dress them up for the occasion, here is a new and very simple way to shape the rolls. Roll the dough out in rounds to resemble pie crust. Brush with melted butter and cut in pie-shaped pieces. Roll each piece, starting at wide end. Place on baking sheet to rise, then bake in moderately hot oven (425 F).

* * *

Serving an attractively decorated fruit cake is a most appropriate way to climax the Christmas dinner. The citron, candied cherries, candied orange peel and pecan halves, whcih are used for decorating fruit cake, are more colorful if they are put on the cake after baking. Then, the decorated cake is given a glistening appearance by brushing the top with unbeaten egg white and returning it to the oven for a few minutes to glaze. Our suggestion is to bring the festive cake to the table uncut so the guests can appreciate its artistic appearance.

* * *

A rich plum pudding, circled with flaming brandy, makes an impressive dessert when it is brought in to a darkened dining room at Christmas dinner. The pudding is placed on a deep round platter and the brandy is allowed to burn until there is just a small amount left.

Several days before Christmas save the orange skins. Remove all the pulp with a spoon, wash the skins shells and notch the edges with scissors. Wrap them in waxed paper and store them in a cool place. They make excellent holders for fruit cocktail, salad or cranberry sauce or a frozen dessert.

To carry out the holiday motif for your Christmas dinner shape your cranberry jelly in a star-shaped mold. Another good way to serve your cranberry sauce is to place it in halves of spiced apricots and pass it on a tray garnished with greenery.

Modern Kitchen Yule Gift for Life

Whatever gives mother more comfort and greater ease every day in the year makes a Christmas gift truly worth while. In many a home this Christmas mother's gift will be planned, all-electric kitchen that will save work, save footsteps, and contribute to her better health and happiness every day of her life.

A planned kitchen means the arrangement of modern electrical equipment in the order of its use, with convenient storage space and work counters, easily cleaned floor, walls and other surfaces, and adequate lighting. There is no reason, either, why it should not be as attractive and cheerful as any other room in the house.

Planning Fundamental.

Planning is fundamental to the modern kitchen. It is the first step to take. No matter what modern electrical appliance is provided to make kitchen work easier, it must be remembered that its location is a part of the service it renders. Each must be placed in relation to the other appliances and to the necessary cabinets and work counters in order to give its fullest efficiency in operation.

It is not necessary for the husband to be a kitchen planning expert in order to surprise his wife with a planned kitchen. Almost every utility company and many electrical appliance dealers everywhere today provide a complete service to plan kitchens for their customers. The men and women who conduct these services understand all the principles involved.

They know where to place each appliance to gain its maximum efficiency. They know how much cabinet space to provide for families of different sizes, in different localities and in various economic groups.

They will avoid the mistakes that the inexperienced homemaker might make in attempting to remodel her own kitchen, and plan a kitchen that is efficient, attractive and completely up-to-date in every respect.

Those who want mother to have all the advantages, comforts and conveniences of the modern, planned kitchen this Christmas would do well first to call on their appliance dealer or utility company for advice and help in preparing the plans. In this way mistakes will be avoided, and mother will have what you want her to have—all the time-saving, work-saving, step-saving conveniences and joys that a scientifically planned modern all-electric kitchen will give her.

And remember there is always a financing service which makes it possible for you to make extended payments for this lasting gift de luxe.

Buffet Service Appliances Pleasing Gift

Dear to the heart of almost every woman are the things which make it possible for her to be a charming and admired hostess. That is why the electrical table cookery appliances, which have been so artfully designed, assume such an important place on any Christmas Gift list.

They make possible that gracious American habit of informal service in the living room or the dining room, as one may choose, to crown a gay evening, or to put the finishing touches on a bridge party. They make possible the delicious snack served up to unexpected guests. They make it possible for the hostess to be ever ready to entertain her friends, and that is why, perhaps, the appliances are so endeared to her.

Take the hostess tray, for example, that happy combination of toaster or hot sandwich maker, serving dishes and bread trimmer. All that's needed in the way of additional equipment to finish off the delicious repast that is possible with one of these trays on a moment's notice, is some hot coffee—and the variety of electrically operated coffee makers or complete coffee services, is great enough to suit any taste also.

Buffet Entertaining.

The once commonplace electrical roaster, which, when it first was introduced, was hailed as so convenient a home appliance, has now been rescued from the kitchen by the electrical appliance designers. It has become the major piece of equipment for the happiest of buffet suppers. Redesigned for beauty it may rest on the sideboard or the dining room table, and direct from its steaming interior may be served more than one hot dish. There's a gift of the finest kind for the woman who entertains.

The complete list of table cookery appliances designed nowadays to be as practical as they are now beautiful is long indeed, and bears close examination on the part of those who have a gift to buy for a woman this Christmas.

Consider for a moment the electric waffle iron, the automatic toaster as separate from the hostess tray, the chafing dishes and the egg cookers, the food warmers and the tea services.

There is hardly a feminine desire that cannot be fulfilled, so long as that woman is a hostess. And the range of appliances is equally flexible with respect to the gift giving budget, for price will depend somewhat on the size and capacity of the appliance or the elaborateness of its decorativeness.

TOY SERVES ART

An educational toy which may help to discover latent artistic abilities in junior is an electric pencil for burning designs in wood, leather, cork or velvet.

Kitchen Scene On Christmas Morning

Will there be a delighted wife and mother in your home Christmas morning? One certain formula for insuring duplication of the above picture in your kitchen Christmas morning, is to surprise your wife with an electric range. Automatic in their operation and responsive to time adjustments, they give the woman amazing freedom from constant attendance on food as it is being cooked. They function "coolly and without flame, and their modern design contributes much to converting the old fashioned kitchen into a modern workshop for a modern woman.

Gifts Can Simplify Breakfast Rush

The lady of the household is confronted with many breakfast problems whose solution may be found in an electrical gift which will take care of everyone's favorite breakfast dish, and take the rush out of one of the otherwise complicated hours of the day.

All the family will get its share of fruit juice easily, with an electric extractor on hand to quickly supply glasses full. The children must have their eggs, boiled in an electrically timed egg maker, scrambled or fried on the grill.

Waffles made crispy brown on the electric waffle iron will be a happy treat, and that important cup of coffee will help start the day right, if it is made perfectly and kept at just the right temperature in an electric percolator.

Solves Yule Food Storage Problem

The problem of how to find room in the refrigerator for the Christmas turkey or suckling is solved by practically all of the new refrigerators.

Irons Automatic And Streamlined

It has been said that the smartest women are those who are most careful of their personal possessions, and it is these very women who will most appreciate the gift of a new, improved automatic iron this Christmas.

Ranging in size from the tiny traveler to the largest for bed and table linens, the new electric irons have almost all taken to streamlined design.

They are faster, because they are so shaped that they can get into corners, around embroidery and fragile laces, without slower ironing speed; they are lighter to handle; they are cooler to operate and make the task less wearisome; they have temperature controls to adapt them to the filmiest sheer silks or the richest texture woolens, and they provide the safe way to iron rayon and other fabrics.

ELECTRICITY FOR MOUTH

There's even an electric tooth brush on the market, now. Individual brush arms identified by numbers are provided for each member of the household.

Suggestions That Make Shopping Easy

Gift Suggestions If It's For a Man.

ELECTRIC SHAVER—for the busy executive who doesn't have much time to get ready in the morning and for every other man. No more blades to make nicks in those wrinkles that are beginning to show on dad's face.

ELECTRICAL TOOL SET—Makes it a pleasant hobby instead of a troublesome chore for dad to tend to those minor repairs needed around the house.

MOVING PICTURE PROJECTOR—nothing quite like it for dad's pride, as he entertains guests by putting on reel after reel picturing the antics of his family.

AIR CONDITIONER—for dad's office. Means that work will take much less "out of him" in both winter and summer. And more clients will flock to his comfortable office, too.

"SILENT" RADIO—When dad wants to stay up all night listening to distant stations, he can do so without keeping mother awake. He's the only one who can hear with this new device.

ELECTRIC CLOCK—for his office desk. Time, and accurate time, is very valuable to him and he doesn't want to fuss with winding a clock either. Styles to suit his personality, some combined with electric calendars.

DESK LAMP—for his office. Some most attractive styles are available, combined with other handsome and functional office equipment that he will be overjoyed at having.

Gifts That Save Work For Mother.

ELECTRIC LAUNDRY—including a washer and ironer to convert the most burdensome of household tasks into a health-saving, money-saving, clothes-saving automatic process.

ELECTRIC RANGE—so that mother can cook the evening meal with a minimum of tending. It's clean and automatic. No flames and no overheated kitchen.

SEWING MACHINE — makes sewing easier, smoother, and quicker. Mother will find that she can make so many more things during her spare time than she could before.

MIXER—does so many unexpected things in addition to mixing (like stirring and juicing) that it practically eliminates manual labor in the preparation of dinner.

TOASTER—with the increasing popularity of toast, not only for breakfast but for other meals, afternoon snacks, entertaining, etc., mother will want a new automatic one that needs no watching.

ROASTER—not only can mother cook an entire meal in it; she can also serve the piping hot food from it—right at the table. An attractive, streamlined appliance.

VACUUM CLEANER—means quick, thorough, dustless cleaning and a much happier mother. Comes with necessary equipment for a host of cleaning operation.

RADIO—Mother spends so much time in the kitchen. Why not get her a small radio to match the kitchen decoration and provide endless diversion while she tends to monotonous chores.

Here Are Suggested Gifts For Baby.

BOTTLE WARMER—to solve mother's problem of warming baby's milk or other food and also to keep the bottle warm for some time. It comes in especially handy in the cold weather.

SUN LAMP—is almost a necessity for the modern baby. Prevents rickets; insures proper development of bones, and builds up resistance against colds and a host of other ailments.

ELECTRIC CRIB BLANKET—maintains a constant crib temperature no matter what the room temperature is. Prevents restless fretting and fatigue in children. Thoroughly tested for safety.

ELECTRIC MUSIC BOX—spares mother or father the painful duty of having to pace the floor on cold wintry nights to lull a restless baby to sleep.

RUBBER BLADED FAN—insures proper ventilation in baby's room as well as absolute safety for wandering baby fingers that happen to come in contact with the blades of the fan.

Check These For The Girl Friend.

BED LAMP—There's no luxury quite like reading in bed. And when one lives alone, it's something that may be indulged in frequently. An appreciated gift.

CURLING IRON—so that your girl's hair can be just as pretty as any movie star's—and without putting any strain on her budget.

HAIR DRYER—so that she can save money and time by shampooing her hair at home. Eliminates risk of colds that one often takes when doing one's own hair.

SUNLAMP—to help her keep that healthy tan.

VIBRATOR—rubs out aches and pains by limbering up those muscles. For most purposes it is possible for the user to operate it by himself.

HEATING PAD—to warm up on cold nights. Excellent for rheumatic pains and aches. It is something that will be appreciated by an elderly person.

INFRA-RED HEAT RAY LAMP—carries heat deep down into the tissues relieving nerve pressure which causes many aches and pains. Good for the younger members of the family, too.

For The Woman Who Entertains.

HOSTESS TRAY — complete with electric grill or toaster and serving dishes. Ideal for serving snacks at informal parties or for more elaborate entertaining.

WAFFLE IRON—Waffles taste good anytime—but especially at midnight, to wind up a successful party. And they are so easy to prepare by electricity. Every home should have two.

SANDWICH MAKER—makes delicious grilled sandwiches and can also be used for frying bacon and eggs. An attractive appliance that looks well right out on the buffet.

FOOD WARMER — keeps a whole meal warm without making it taste all dried up. Just the thing to keep dinner fresh when guests are arriving late.

ROASTER—the kind that operates electrically is a whole little modern kitchen in itself, and handsome enough to be brought right out before the guests, to be served from. Keeps food warm, too.

Broadcasts Christmas Spirit

NEW AMERICAN TRADITION becomes firmly established as the years go on with exterior as well as interior illumination of home for the Yuletide. The doorway pictured above silently broadcasts the Christmas spirit of "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men" through the dark of night, by means of brightly shining vari-hued electric light bulbs. Completely planned kits of specially wired sockets for which colored bulbs may be had, are available on the market to make this type of decoration easily possible for every householder. Photo from Noma.

Electric Shaver 'Tops' as Yule Gift for Men

Occupying first place among this year's gifts for the male is the electric shaver, that product of modern ingenuity which solves, at long last, man's oldest and most bothersome problem of personal grooming.

It means that this is going to be a very merry Christmas for the whole family as they receive their holiday kiss from a daddy who has actually taken out a couple of moments for an effortless, lightning-fast removal of that daily growth of stubble before proceeding—pajama-clad—to greet them at the Christmas tree.

Nor need mother have misgivings about the rather unconventional part of the house daddy chooses in which to attend to his tonsorial duties, for there's no water, lather, cream, lotion, nor powder to make a mess.

But it's dad, himself, who is going to be most enthusiastic about this long-lasting gift.

Day in and day out he'll be getting clean, barber-like shaves in but a fraction of the time the old method took; he'll be thanking his lucky stars (and you, too) that he no longer has to suffer the burning, the irritation, and the abrasion caused by the old way; and—not least important—there'll be an end to troublesome periodical expenditures for blades, shaving creams, and all the other toilet articles needed for the old, conventional shave.

So adaptable are the new electric shavers that they can be used with equal success on a heavy beard and on a light one, on a delicate skin and on a tough one, on the fuzz-covered chin of junior who is in his last year in high school and on the wrinkled face of grandpa.

Perfect Gift

SUNBEAM—The round shaving head on Sunbeam's Shavemaster may be passed over the face in any direction. The cutter rotates with half circle action.

Candles Give Way To Bulbs as Yule Tree Decorations

A major symbol of the Yuletide, and second only to the cheery face of Old Saint Nick himself, is the colorfully bedecked and gaily lighted Christmas tree.

But once upon a time, when only wax candles and their dangerous flame, were available for lighting its dark green branches, the Christmas tree occasionally and tragically converted the height of gayety into a horrible disaster.

This hazard is gone forever for most homes, with the perfection of electrically operated Christmas tree illumination which needs only be plugged into the baseboard outlet, and then strung at will over the limbs of the evergreen to produce a brilliance far more beautiful than the pale yellow of candle light ever made possible.

Complete sets of all-wired Christmas tree illumination are now available to suit almost any fancy. Vari-colored bulbs, simulating if you wish, the old style candles are to be had. They come in many sizes to fit tiny sockets of minute enough weight to be easily born by the thin limbs of any tree.

Best of all, the electrical illumination for Christmas trees, available in single packages, may be saved from year to year, and thus an economy is effected. They can be added to from year to year also, so that when the family grows more numerous and a larger tree is required, a comparatively small expenditure will enable you to add to already available equipment and complete the decoration.

TYGERS FACE TROUBLE FROM FOES IN NEXT FEW WEEKS.

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

MANSFIELD high school cagers are going to have a pretty tough time of it during the next few weeks. The Tygers' next opponents, in order, are Canton McKinley, Erie, Pa., Strong Vincent, Cleveland West, Ashland, New Philadelphia, Bellevue and Sandusky. McKinley's strength on the court need not be stressed. The Bulldogs have what it takes to win ball games again this season. The Pennsylvania school returns with a stronger team than last season. Cleveland West recently tripped the Tygers and Ashland shapes up as one of the powers in the N. C. O. conference. Virtually the same club which carried New Philadelphia to the runner-up honors in the state finals last spring is back. All the games lost by Bellevue in the last three or four years can be counted on one hand. Sandusky is undefeated. Name a school that faces a tougher schedule . . .

CLARK

Baseball owners are seriously considering the pro football game. Three of the major minor leagues are discussing the possibility of supplementing their summer business with football. They see in football a medium for reducing overhead on parks that otherwise are idle six months a year. . . . Now comes the "all-stir" game. A Jan. 2 meeting between the grid clubs of Texas State penitentiary and Oklahoma state prison has been suggested. . . . If boxing is ever ruled on a national basis such as baseball, Gene Tunney would be a popular man for the job, according to a United Press survey.

Perhaps one of Coach Russ Murphy's closest friends in the coaching business is Dutch Clark, who last week was named mentor of the Cleveland Rams. . . . Columbus promoters are considering installing a rink for ice hockey games. . . . Lou Nova, who put the skids under Tommy Farr Friday, looks and fights like Gene Tunney. He seems to have everything but experience.

Chillicothe Pulls One for the Book.

ONE of the oddest football plays of the year was pulled in a high school game in Chillicothe this fall. A forward pass was intercepted by a defensive player. After running a few steps, he lateralled toward a teammate, only to see the original forward passer come up fast to intercept the throw and run for a touchdown. . . . The first Christmas card for the year comes from Roy Lee, who first based for the Mansfield Red Sox last year.

Cleveland still has a chance to get Buck Newsom. The right-hander is having contract trouble with the Brownies. He wants $20,000 to throw for the St. Louis club next year. That's more than the club can play, and it may be forced to trade him to meet his demands. . . . The All-America jinx this year was Junie Burns of the Auburn eleven. He sprained both ankles, dislocated his collar bone, broke a rib, split his head, suffered a cut eye and was knocked out once.

SEES LOOP DISSOLUTION AS HELD TO MARSHALL

COLUMBUS —(AP)—Dissolution of the five-member Buckeye Athletic conference left a few expressed regrets and considerable speculation over possible new loop affiliations in the debris today.

Coach Cam Henderson of Marshall college, storm-center of the 13-year-old loop, expressed the belief that the West Virginia school's athletic schedules would become stronger than ever as a result of the action, adding: "Marshall is not adverse to joining a new conference provided the league is strong all along the line." Talk of organizing a Great Lakes conference was renewed but nothing concrete developed.

Split In Tenth Frame Costs Hipp Chance to Roll 300 Game

Moose Star Rolls 10 Straight Strikes in 287 Game; Lodge Teams Split Double-Header.

A 4-6-10 SPLIT cost Farrell Hipp of the Moose No. 1 team a chance to wrap up a perfect game at the Meder alleys over the weekend.

Bowling against the lodge's No. 2 team in a Moose Traveling league match at the Meder alleys Saturday, Hipp hung up 10 straight strikes in the middle game of the second half of a double-header before running into the damaging split.

Hipp had to be content with a 287, 13 pins short of perfection. His score was the second highest turned in at the Meder alleys this season. Wayne Hursh of the Yuncker Sports holds the record with a 290.

Hipp, who failed to reach the 500 figures in the first three games, came back with a 725 in the afterpiece to lead his teammates to a 3157 total and a pair of victories over their lodge brothers.

In addition to the 287 game, Hipp rolled scores of 203 and 235 as the No. 1 team accumulated a 1012-1051-1094 string. Mike Meder contributed a 622, Brig Young, a 619, and John Leppo, a 602.

The No. 2 team, led by Pete Grohol's 625 and Jimmy Weems' 606, took two games of the first match to split the double-header. The split keeps the two teams in a tie for fourth place.

Art Hilborn, who rolled a 650 from games of 160, 234 and 256, and Meder, with a 256 and 615, led No. 1 in the opening match.

Carl Phillipon blasted 676 pins to the pits to lead the Lumbermen's Mutuals to a 2868 to 2669 victory over Ferguson's Brunswicks of Shelby in a special match here Sunday. He had games of 243, 208 and 225. Jimmy Smith rolled a 602.

Strangely enough, Major Robert R. Neyland, his coach, is just about the only coach, scout or writer who, after seeing Cafego, isn't on record as saying he's the finest back in the south. That's explained by the fact that Neyland, a superstitious fellow, is afraid he would "jinx" his sparkplug by giving him a boost in the public prints.

Chuckovits Gets Chance to Boost Total Tonight

COLUMBUS—(UP)— Dartmouth's 1938 Eastern league basketball champions invade the court of Toledo university tonight to start off a brilliant array of intersectional tilts for Ohio college basketball teams this week.

The intersectional program also calls for Dartmouth vs. Western Reserve and Miami vs. Oregon in Cleveland's public hall Tuesday night; Wisconsin at Xavier Tuesday; Centenary at Akron, and Washington & Lee at Xavier, Thursday, while Ohio U. rides the Pullmans for games at University of Buffalo tonight; Scranton, Pa., college Tuesday; St. Joseph's of Philadelphia Wednesday, and George Washington at Washington, D. C., Friday.

Only two Ohio conference games are on the books. Most important will be the Kent State-Mt.Union clash at Kent Wednesday night. The Stater's dark horse entry bounced Bowling Green from the unbeaten class, 35 to 33, Saturday night and may surprise the Mounts, defending conference titleholders. Mt. Union has looked none too impressive in victories over Fenn and Youngstown.

The other league match involves John Carroll at Mt. Union tonight. Carroll has already suffered two defeats.

Toledo's hopes against the mighty Indians depend largely on the ability of Chuck Chuckovits, rocket scoring ace, to break loose on a point-making rampage.

Saturday night, the Albion college five held Chuck to seven points, the smallest total he has netted in his 46-game rocket career. Only twice before, in his first sophomore game against Bluffton and against Xavier last year, has the Akron lad failed to tally 10 points or better. Bluffton held him to eight points in his collegiate debut while the Musketeers allowed him only nine.

Other games tonight find Oberlin at Chicago; Ohio Wesleyan at Duquesne, Ypsilanti Teachers at Akron; John Carroll at Mt. Union, Wittenberg at Washington college of Maryland.

Ohio U's speedy sophomores dropped a 59 to 54 decision to Western Reserve Saturday night while Wesleyan put on another scoring show and walloped Buffalo, 61 to 35. The Bishops have averaged 57 points in their first four games.

John Carroll repelled St. Mary's of Minnesota, 52 to 39; Heidelberg beat Fenn, 44 to 38; Youngstown lost to Davis-Elkins, 47 to 18, and Lehigh tripped Wittenberg, 50 to 40.

Bulldogs Register Fifth Straight Victory Over Polk, 31 to 19.

BUTLER high school cagers registered their fifth straight victory of the season Saturday night when they turned back Polk, 31 to 19, in a non-league game at Butler.

In other games involving county teams, Union registered its first league triumph with a 25 to 20 victory over Bellville on the home court and Lucas broke a two-game winning streak by halting Perrysville, 32 to 21.

Miller, Ward Star.

Led by Kenny Miller and Wendall, the Butler Bulldogs jumped into a 11 to 4 lead in the first period and never trailed. They led 19 to 8 at the half and 25 to 15 at the end of the third period. Miller counted 14 points and Ward contributed nine.

The Butler reserve bowed to the Polk seconds, 42 to 14, in the preliminary game.

Bellville led only twice as Union registered a league victory in a hard-fought game. The Bluejays held a 3 to 2 advantage early in the first period and a 17 to 16 lead in the third quarter.

Union was in front, 15 to 5, at the intermission, and scored three baskets in a row in the fourth period to break an 18-18 tie. Lehman tallied 10 points for the winners. Hamilton added eight for Bellville. Union took the preliminary game, 20 to 18.

Crawford Leads Lucas.

Bob Crawford registered 17 points and Tom Greulich came through with 13 as Lucas won over Perrysville at Perrysville. Lucas trailed 8 to 6 at the end of the opening quarter, but held a 12 to 10 advantage at the half. It held a 21 to 19 lead going into the fourth period, and permitted Perrysville only two points in the final quarter.

FAVORITES SPUR BUYING AFTER QUIET OPENING

Steels, Aircrafts Lead Upswing Attributed to Easing of Year-End Tax Selling.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—(AP)—Steels and aircrafts led a forward swing in today's stock market.

Gains ran to a point or so for favorites and buying momentum picked up after a quiet opening. Leaders were around the best near the second hour.

Well in front were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Eastern Airlines, Glenn Martin, Sperry, General Motors, Chrysler, Great Northern, Bendix, Anaconda, Kennecott, Loew's, Union Carbide, Westinghouse, U. S. Rubber, Consolidated Edison and Johns-Manville.

Resumption of the upturn generally was attributed by brokers to the easing of year-end tax selling and the reinstatement of commitments by some speculative forces that cashed profits last week. In addition the business outlook continued more cheerful than otherwise and less apprehension was shown over foreign rumblings.

Market analysts saw nothing particularly discouraging in the current leveling off of steel mill activities. In 11 of the past 15 years, it was recalled, declining tendencies in steel output have appeared during December.

THREE INJURED HERE AS 11 DIE IN OHIO TRAFFIC

Boy, 13, En Route Home From Vesper Service, and Truck Driver, Seriously Hurt.

Three persons were injured, two seriously, in traffic accidents in and near Mansfield over the week-end as 11 fatalities were recorded in highway mishaps throughout the state.

The two most seriously hurt were Jack Mitchell, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Mitchell, R. D. 3, Mansfield, and Gale Grogg, 28, of 229 East Second street. Both are in the General hospital.

Young Mitchell has a fractured skull and Grogg is suffering from a fractured rib and possible internal injuries, attendants reported. Both were in "fair" condition today.

State highway patrolmen said they were injured when an automobile driven by Mitchell's father and a truck operated by Grogg, collided on the highway in front of the Springfield township school at 5:30 p. m. yesterday.

Jack, an 8th grade student at the school, had taken part in a vesper service at the school during the afternoon and was leaving with his father, when the accident occurred.

Fails to See Truck.

State highway patrolmen said Mitchell, comptroller at the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company, pulled away from in front of the school on U. S. route 30-S and into the path of the truck. Both cars were headed east.

Mitchell told patrolmen that he had looked before he pulled from the side of the road and did not see the truck.

Everett Taylor, 20, of Mt. Vernon, a hitch-hiker riding with Grogg, suffered lacerations.

Shortly after noon yesterday, Barbara Thorpe, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Thorpe, 195 West Fourth street, was struck by an automobile as she crossed West Fourth street at Bowman street.

Police said the driver of the machine, Carl Schafer, 124 Western avenue, told them that the girl stepped from the rear of another car into the path of his machine before he could stop. Schafer took the girl home where she was treated by a physician.

3 Face Charges.

Meanwhile three motorists, one a 19-year-old youth charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol, will face Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court within the next week.

Richard Sturges, 19, Overlook road, is to be arraigned Dec. 27 on the driving charge filed by Joseph Lang, jr., 210 Grace street, following an automobile collision on the Ashland hill Saturday.

Sturges, arrested by State Highway Patrolman C. B. Tieben was released on $500 property bond posted by his mother immediately after the accident.

According to the patrolman, Sturges drove his car nearly head-on into Lang's machine, which was traveling east in the right hand lane of the three-lane highway.

Tomorrow C. R. Baker, Akron, charged with careless and reckless driving by state highway patrolmen, will be arraigned in court. He was released on $35 appearance bond.

Howard Toepper, Chicago, will be arraigned in court Wednesday on a charge of careless and reckless driving filed by Fred Thomas, whose address was not given. Patrolmen who made the arrests were not available to supply the details of the cases.

Five victims of a grade crossing crash at Rocky Ridge, near Port Clinton headed the week-end list of Ohio's traffic fatalities.

Three were killed instantly and two died in a hospital of injuries received when their automobile was struck by a fast New York Central passenger train. The dead were: Arthur Below, 42, driver of the car; Mrs. Arthur Below, 38; their son, Calvin, 14; Martin Madison, 59, and Alice Floriana, 9.

Orlena Below, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Below, walked a block from the scene of the crash to a restaurant, where she collapsed. She was taken in a semi-conscious condition to a hospital where she was reported suffering from a brain concussion.

Two brothers, John, 30, and Stanley Woloch, 22, were killed at Lima when their automobile was hit by a Pennsylvania passenger train.

Harold P. Prather, 44, WPA engineer in charge of the $4,000,000 Lakeshore boulevard project at Cleveland, was killed when his auto struck a safety zone stanchion.

Mrs. Edith Brooks, 37, met death in a head-on automobile collision near Middletown, and Vincent Longo, 20, of Columbus, was killed when his auto plunged into a ditch.

SECURITY PLAN APPROVAL SEEN

Board Ready to O. K. Program to Aid 8,600,000 More, Washington Hears.

plans for a $47,000,000,000 old age reserve fund by 1980 be scrapped in favor of a contingency fund, set up as a trust and bolstered by federel subsidy. All revenue from Social Security taxes would be earmarked for this fund.

Under the plan the government would pay one-third of the cost of the old age insurance program; one-third would come from the payroll tax on employes, and one-third from the payroll tax on employers. This tax, now one per cent each on employers and workers, is scheduled to go up to 1½ per cent in 1940.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), a sponsor of the advisory council, hailed its report as an "expert" unpartisan clarification of a complex problem." He predicted Republicans in congress would cooperate in enacting the changes it recommended.

Vandenberg said, in a statement issued through the Republican national committee, that congress would not hesitate to eliminate the old age reserve fund and the payroll tax increase scheduled for 1940, advance the start of benefit payments, and earmark old age insurance taxes.

He said, however, that extension of the whole system to entirely new groups "may well await the time when we have perfected the existing system for existing groups."

Principal Points of New Security Plan.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Here, in brief, are the principal recommendations of the social security advisory council for revising the Social Security act:

1. Ultimate extension of federal old-age insurance to "the largest possible proportion of our gainfully employed population."

2. Advancement from 1942 to Jan. 1, 1940, of the beginning of old age insurance payments.

3. Protection of the "family unit" by paying supplementary benefits to aged wives and widows of beneficiaries.

4. Payment of orphans' benefits and widows' allowances when workers die before reaching retirement age of 65.

5. Payment of disability insurance to workers and their families when permanent and total disability stops the worker from earning a living.

6. Payment of lump-sum death benefits up to $200.

7. Immediate extension of the system to seamen and employes of banks, non-profit religious, charitable and educational institutions. This would cover about 2,600,000 persons.

8. Inclusion of about 6,000,000 farm and domestic employes by Jan. 1, 1940, if possible.

9. Elimination of the old age reserve, estimated to reach $47,000,000,000 by 1980, in favor of a much smaller "contingency fund" for which social security taxes would be earmarked.

10. Contribution of one-third of the insurance system's cost by the federal government, with employers and workers contributing the balance in equal shares.

Youth Attacked, Pushed Through Church Window

Oscar Krebs, 18, of 54 North Adams street, was in the General hospital today suffering from a severe laceration of the right arm, the aftermath of an attack early Sunday morning in which he was pushed through a basement Window of the First Methodist church on Park avenue east.

The youth told police he and two others were walking up the street and had just reached the church when he was attacked by four youths. During the scuffle, he told officers, he was pushed through the window, the glass cutting his arm.

He was taken to the hospital by Walter Wagner, 80 Altmont street, who was accompanying him with Miss Adeline McClure, 819 Wood street.

Police said the three only a few minutes before the altercation had left the Steak Tavern on Park avenue east. Krebs said he did not recognize his assailants and could give police no reason for the act.

CRESTLINE—Mrs. Jerry Royel and Mrs F. J. Gosser spent Friday with Miss Helen Ogi who is a patient at the Avalon sanitarium in Mt. Vernon.

Workmen on Job, and Pupils Get Head Start on Yule Vacation.

Workmen today were removing equipment from the John Simpson junior high school building in preparation for razing of the building while the 1,300 pupils who attended classes in the structure were on an extended Christmas vacation.

Pupils in other schools in the city will not be dismissed until Wednesday for the holidays, but classes at the John Simpson school were ended Friday to permit an early start on demolishing the old structure to make room for a new building.

As the city's $1,000,000 school building program moves into high gear, ground will be broken at 2 p. m. Tuesday for the Johnny Appleseed junior high building at Cline avenue and Wood street.

Arlin to Break Ground.

H. W. Arlin, president of the school board, has been delegated to turn the first shovel of earth while board members, Supt. W. L. Miller and other interested residents look on.

The school board today received final approval of the regional PWA office at Columbus for a contract awarded several days ago to the Steinle-Wolfe Construction company, Fremont, for construction of the new building.

The board will meet at 7:30 p. m. today to rent buildings to provide for John Simpson junior high pupils after classes are resumed Jan. 4.

A part of the pupils will return to the newer section of the John Simpson building which will be retained, and others will be shifted to the Hedges schools and placed on a half-day schedule.

SEEDLESS MELON

Chinese Researcher Finds Success After Others Fail.

EAST LANSING, Mich.—(AP)—The Michigan State college exhibited today a seedless watermelon developed by Chengyin Wong, 27-year-old Chinese graduate student who, college authorities said, had succeeded where other researchers had failed.

Wong explained that elimination of the seeds was accomplished by the use of growth-promoting hormones in dilute acids.

Stricken Sunday

Frank A. Hughes, founder and retired president of the Hughes Supply company, died unexpectedly while visiting friends on a farm west of Shelby yesterday. He was 66, and a life-long resident of Richland county.

WARNS HITLER NOT TO 'ERR'

Chamberlain Says Britain's Peace Efforts Not Sign of Defense Weakness.

labor party motion of misconfidence in the government foreign policy, Chamberlain had warned that opposition policies would throw Britain into war against Japan, Germany and probably insurgent Spain.

The prime minister stood by his appeasement program, but said only time would show whether it could be carried through. He said that "whether the policy ultimately achieves its aims remains to be seen and is a matter that depends not on us alone."

But, Chamberlain insisted, it was right to attempt the friendship policy "because the only alternative was war."

"I would not take that awful responsibility on my shoulders unless it were forced upon me by the madness of others," he concluded.

For the present, he emphasized that he was going ahead by carrying through with his plan for a visit to Rome in January for conversations with Premier Benito Mussolini.

In the face of loud shouts of derision and heckling by the Laborite opposition, Chamberlain argued that it could "not fairly be said" that Mussolini had broken his pledges in regard to aiding the insurgents in Spain and added that the government does not propose to grant belligerent rights to the insurgents.

DEATH CLAIMS FRANK HUGHES

Former Head of Supply Firm Stricken While on Visit Near Shelby.

Frank A. Hughes, 66, retired president of the Hughes Supply company, died unexpectedly yesterday of a heart attack while visiting with friends on a farm west of Shelby. He had been in failing health for several years.

Mr. Hughes helped to found the Hughes Supply company, which manufactures plumbing equipment, in 1910. Associated with him were his brothers, Charles and George. In 1912, Mr. Hughes became president of the company, which is well-known throughout the state, and remained in that post until his retirement in 1935. Both his brothers preceded him in death.

Mr. Hughes was the son of David and Fanny Hughes, pioneer Weller township residents. He was born Feb. 4, 1872, on a tract of land which had been cleared by his grandfather, who emigrated from Wales.

On April 24, 1900, Mr. Hughes married Almeda Stober, who survives him, as do a son, David, and a daughter, Mrs. Paul H. Schultz, and three grandchildren, Nancy and William Schultz, and Melvin Hughes, all of Mansfield.

Mr. Hughes was well known as a singer, and had been active in choir work from boyhood until his illness.

A member of the Central M. E. church, he was also affiliated with Venus lodge, No. 152, F. and A. M., as well as the chapter and council of the Masonic order.

His body will be at the home, 55 Helen avenue, until the time of services, which will be at 2:30 Tuesday at the Finefrock mortuary. Dr. Paul Hollingshead of Central M. E. church, and Dr. Jesse J. Wyeth, Mt. Vernon, a life-long friend, will officiate. Burial will be in Franklin cemetery.

U. S. JURIST DIES

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—The brilliant career of Judge Charles Breckinridge Faris, 74, of the United States circuit court of appeals, was closed today in death. He died at his home yesterday after a long illness.

CHAPTER 26

If you walk atop the long Galveston sea wall from the Crystal palace and the roller coasters and the Hotel Galvez, out around the graceful curve at the end of the island, you will come eventually to one of the largest hospitals in the world. It is John Sealy hospital, named for a philanthropist, famed for distinguished service and for being a valuable adjunct to the Texas university medical school, in the adjoining blocks.

Down one of the hospital's white tile corridors now was an air of some excitement, caused by a knot of people who clung near the entrance to one suite. Mr. and Mrs. Diehl were there, three newspaper men, a photographer and a beach life guard, now in street dress. Sara Sue Davis and Bob Towne saw this group when they turned into the corridor, but their first hurdle was an efficient looking floor nurse, who blocked their way.

"Whom did you wish to see?" the nurse asked.

"Dr. Holgate," said Bob.

"Sorry. No admission. He is unconscious anyway."

"But I must go to him!" Sara Sue pleaded.

"You can do no good now. May I ask who you are?"

"I am Mrs. Sara S— We are relatives. I-I'm his sister!"

Bob turned then to look at Sara Sue. He had never heard her lie before, even a white lie. He wondered again at her intense interest here. But he gamely echoed, "Relatives," supporting her.

"Well—" the nurse weighed that, "I suppose you are entitled to stay, at least. But you can come now only to the sitting room. He has a suite, you know. Under no condition can you go into the bedroom unless accompanied by Dr. McGill, who is in charge. He is with the patient now. Also two nurses. And be absolutely quiet, please."

* * *

The light in the sitting room was dim. A nurse closed the bedroom door when they stepped in, and then snapped on another light.

"Oh!" said Sara Sue, taken aback.

"H-hello, Peaches," Bob greeted Miss Pomeroy. She was sitting in a wicker rocking chair, face pale, staring up at the newcomers. She did not speak at first.

"H-how is he?" queried Sara Sue, scarcely above a whisper.

"He may be dying."

They all looked at the bedroom door.

"Better sit down, Sara Sue," Bob urged. "We'll see Dr. McGill after a bit, I imagine."

"He doesn't know any more. I just asked him," Peaches declared. "It will be a long time, several hours, before he will know. . . . Why did you come? I mean—"

It seemed to dawn on all three of them at once that their positions were somewhat strange, that no one of them really belonged there, keeping potential death watch beside a new Rice professor.

Here was Geraldine Pomeroy, and Bob Towne, the Rice man she was supposed to be engaged to in months past. And here was the widow Davis—she who had appeared like a romantic bombshell near the Rice campus this fall, upsetting Geraldine's plans, disturbing everybody for good or bad. Bob had openly and often avowed his love this fall not for Peaches, but for Sara Sue. Peaches had gone out of her way one night to insult Sara Sue. And Sara Sue had, secretly, been coaching Dr. Thornton Holgate, in wooing Peaches!

* * *

Only Sara Sue knew all of this, of course. She glanced now at her enemy, and Peaches looked away.

"Well—" Bob tried lamely to talk. But the situation was rather strained. It always is in a hospital emergency ward, for that matter. And here he was with an ex-sweetheart and a new girl he loved. He pressed his lips tightly together.

"It is not a moment to—think of personalities," Sara Sue announced, sensibly. "I would like—Bob and I would like—to know what happened. We read an extra edition of a Houston paper, hurriedly. That's all we know. Would you—?" She looked at Peaches.

"He saved the little girl first," Peaches began, not looking directly at either of them, but at the wall. Her face seemed to wear a pout. "I mean, he kept her from drifting away and drowning. Then the mother jumped on him. She was about to drown herself, trying to save the child. Thornton had to fight both of them then.

"He was marvelous. I thought he was running away, at first. I even yelled 'Coward' at him. But he was doing a wise thing. He ran out on the pier and dived in, where he would be closer to the child. I think he is wonderful."

"Then what?" Bob probed.

"Well, of course some more people saw it. I was crying, and shrieking around, I guess. Somebody—two men—put out in a rowboat. I guess it was a sort of lifeboat there where they rent the floaters. But the waves were awfully rough, and these men weren't good at it.

"They got the child, then the woman. While they were lifting the woman into the boat, a wave knocked Thornton against the oar lock. It hit his head, and knocked him unconscious.

"They almost never got him out then. Of course he was almost drowned. More people had come. A first aid squad was nearby and an ambulance came, and—well, we all came here. I made them give him the best suite in the hospital. There were some others in our party. But they have gone home."

They sat silent for quite a while then. Presently Dr. McGill came out of the sick room, looking over his glasses at Bob and Sara Sue.

"Um. You may as well all go and get some rest," he suggested, brusquely. "It is past midnight. We can notify you of any important change. He is desperately ill, but we are doing everything possible."

* * *

A nurse had heard him, and she spoke now. "This is the patient's sister, Dr. McGill. Miss—I did not get your name, please?"

"Davis, Mrs. Davis," said Sara Sue, blushing. "And this is Mr. Towne."

"Well, you may stay here if you'd rather," the doctor ruled. "But there is no reason to disturb him. He would not recognize you, probably, for some time yet. The suite, of course, is designed for relatives, so you can have cots brought here if you like. But do nothing to disturb the hospital routine."

With that he was gone. Sara Sue bit her lip, trying to think. Bob and Peaches looked at her.

"Sister!" said Peaches. Then, contemptuously, "Why did you lie to get in? What is Thornton Holgate to you?"

"Listen, Peaches," Bob broke in, "you can't sit here and—"

"It's all right, Bob!" Sara Sue put out a hand to restrain him. She looked pleadingly at him now.

"It's true. I did lie. But the reasons for doing so were my own! I see no reason to have a scene here."

* * *

Peaches Pomeroy had, of course, been under a nervous strain. She herself had been up late the previous night, dancing, drinking. She had been swimming, which is fatiguing to one not in best physical condition. Then she had witnessed a near tragedy, had been through the excitement of the rescue and the subsequent efforts to save Thornton's life. Strain always made her not only weary, but irritable as well. And then—to cap it off—here came the two people who had hurt her pride most.

"What reasons?" she demanded now. "Reasons! You probably have a reason for everything you do. Or think you have. Have you been lying about all the other things, to, Mrs. Counsel in Romance?" Peaches' voice could sting, when she wanted it to. "You've been butting into everybody's affairs ever since school opened! You're not even a student, you're nobody socially, you haven't got—

"Peaches Stop it!" Bob Towne literally growled it at her, glancing at the sickroom door. "This is no way to act! You don't know what you're saying. And this is no place. You're acting like a cat when you don't know anything abou—"

"BOB! No!" Sara Sue shook him. "No more talk, please. Come on!"

She led him out, thence back down the corridor. And she was sobbing into her tiny handkerchief, feeling very miserable indeed.

The Land of Opportunity.

AMONG all the other opportunities afforded in this marvelous United States of America is that of perpetrating such an amazing swindle as has just been disclosed in the career of Philip Musica, who came to America as an Italian immigrant boy, devoted his young manhood to questionable or criminal business practices, was lost track of in 1923 and reappeared in financial circles in 1925 under the assumed name of F. Donald Coster to shortly afterward become head of an immense drug corporation figured as an $87 000,000 concern.

Probably in no other country in the world would opportunity be provided for a known criminal to vanish so completely as did Philip Musica in 1923, or to be so quickly accepted as "F. Donald Coster" a couple of years later.

In this instance it was not a matter of deceiving ignorant or inexperienced people. Those who fell for Coster's trickery would class as among the brightest lights in the business and financial world—yet all the time the fingerprints of Philip Musica, crook, were gathering dust in government files.

Says the publisher of Who's Who, into which select circle Coster was accepted: "Who's Who takes it for granted that a man elected president of an $87,000,000 concern is all that he ought to be."

That is a common attitude. There have been numerous other instances in which men have been accepted for what they pretend to be, rather than for what they really are.

As a tragic finale Philip Musica killed himself. This immigrant boy who had found in America an opportunity for illegal financial wizardry that would have been denied him in his native land, took what he thought would be the easy way out of the entanglement in which he and his company had become involved.

The most unfortunate thing about occurrences such as this is the suspicion aroused against business methods in general, and it cannot be too strongly stressed that honest business should wholeheartedly co-operate with government in minimizing such opportunities for chicanery as were enjoyed by this alien swindler.

Business Outlook at Year-End.

THIS is the prophetic season, and the business soothsayers are all guessing about next year. One of the foremost of these is Col. Leonard P. Ayres, a Cleveland banker, of whom a friend says that he "knows more about what will happen next year than most of us know about what is happening right now." His preview, though not exciting, is reassuring.

"We are justified in feeling pretty confident about business improvement next year," he says. "The year 1939 will test our national capacity to generate a self-supporting recovery. If we can do that, and if the international situation does not become too unfavorable, our recovery can last a long time.

"The outcome depends on government and business, and on their ability to seize opportunities."

The gist of his analysis is that 1939 is likely to be a better business year than 1938 has been, and almost as good as 1937.

It depends considerably on foreign conditions. Also a good deal on the government. Lately the attitude of American business and government, with regard to teamwork, seems more reassuring than it has been for some time.

Safer Driving Is Saving Lives.

THE gain in careful driving observed almost everywhere now is clearly not a casual thing, a transient whim or wave of emotion The movement keeps right on and grows stronger. The National Safety Council foresees a total saving of 8,500 lives in the United States this year, compared with last year. It will be the first decline in the traffic toll since 1932 and the greatest one in our history.

It is the result of several factors. Automobile clubs and other organizations have been urging safer driving for years, and now begin to see the fruits of their work. The police almost everywhere have done their best. Automobile manufacturers have made a great contribution, by providing modern cars with so many safety devices and making them more easily controlled.

Better roads, safer streets, and so on, have helped But perhaps the biggest contribution to safety has been made by the drivers themselves. Generally speaking, they are growing more skillful and learning to drive more carefully.

America's Choice.

SOME Americans seem confused about this Communism-Fascism conflict which is supposedly dividing the world into two antagonistic camps. Many go so far as to believe that America must choose one or the other.

There is no basis for such a belief. Americanism—understood, believed in and practised—can get along very well without either the Hitler-Mussolini or the Stalin system. We have made our choice—Americanism, which is democratic capitalism. We should be able to see the fallacies and cruelties of the others and be grateful for our own democracy and our opportunity to adhere to its principles while adapting its laws and methods from time to time to changed conditions.

Meanwhile, it is necessary that we keep our eye on the activities of the proponents of alien systems of government, recognizing and combatting their propaganda wherever it appears. As for their imminent threat to the world's freedom and peace, H. V. Kaltenborn says:

"Just remember this. Communism, since its beginning, has never conquered a single country. Fascism has already conquered seven, and is in a fair way to conquer several others."

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — The shift in congressional attitude toward business is well illustrated by the eagerness of a senate tax committee to listen to plans for coddling business instead of punishing it.

Two years ago the undistributed profits tax was enacted as a combination punishment and reform measure. It was argued that big corporations were piling up excessive idle reserves instead of paying them out in wages and dividends which would swell consuming power and increase taxable income. So, a tax was imposed on earnings kept in corporate reserves to compel a corporation either to pay taxes at once or pay out extra wages and dividends which could be taxed in the regular income brackets.

Corporations protested that the law penalized thrifty managers saving against a rainy day, and at the same time made it impossible to save money for plant expansion and improvement. So many complaints were made that last year it was almost wiped out by the simple device of reducing the tax virtually to nothing.

* * *

Seek 'Step Out' Spurs.

NOW a special senate committee is learning from experts how to apply taxation to encourage business to step out with new vigor. They talk of "incentive taxation" to encourage such things as plant expansion and modernization, as well as to encourage such worker-benefit programs as profit-sharing and pension trusts

Just where it will wind up is something else again but the situation contrasts significantly with the sock 'em attitude of 1936.

Alfred P. Sloan, jr., chairman of the General Motors corporation, told the committee that a blanket reduction of taxes would be the greatest piece of "incentive" he could think of in that line. Incidentally, that has been the theme song of most of the industrialists appearing before the committee.

Throughout the first and second depressions the greatest sluggishness has been felt in the capital goods industry—among the machinery makers and the tool makers, the very ones who would first be put to work if manufacturers of consumer goods began demanding new equipment.

* * *

Several Proposals Made.

ALREADY a basketful of "incentive tax" methods have been proposed. Sloan suggested a tax reward to companies installing new and more efficient equipment. "America's production plant is obsolete, as measured by today's technology," he told the committee. "Today the tax structure and its administration tend to discourage the substitution of the new for the old."

"Installing new equipment not only would stimulate the capital goods industry producing the equipment, he said, but would help the plants which bought it to lower costs of manufacturing consumer goods. Thus at one blow, purchasing power would be increased on two fronts.

Other proposals include tax rewards for companies setting up trust funds for pension or similar worker benefits. At present only those companies which contribute an 85 per cent share to pension funds can offset the donation from taxable earnings.

Presents Many Problems.

ALREADY the congressional tax technicians are more concerned about difficulties of putting "incentive taxes" into effect than about what they might do to revenue, although that of course ultimately will be the primary consideration. Badly applied, an incentive tax might unbalance competition among rival companies and in the end disrupt business even more seriously than the undistributed profits tax.

One thing is certain. More government revenue must be had and it can come only from two sources. One is from sterner and broader levies, and the other from increased national earnings which will turn out more revenue under present rates.

Eden Made Big Hit In Washington

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Anthony Eden got a good bit of education in American reporters' and cameramen's ways while he was in this country. He had an excellent professor at it in the person of "Ty" Krum of the Federal Housing administration's publicity staff. Incidentally Krum got a fine line of housing advertising out of the Eden visit. He knew very well that Britain has a housing program of its own on the griddle and surmised Anthony would be interested in what we're doing in the same direction. Accordingly, even before the latter had sailed for this side of the Atlantic Ty cabled and made a date with him, to give him a once over at our activities.

Eden

As soon, then, as ex-Foreign Minister Eden had arrived and disposed of his speech before the National Manufacturers' association, Krum was on hand with Administrator Strauss to show him the sights of New York slum elimination.

They had him all to themselves for about two hours. That is, they had him all to themselves except for a sizeable army of photographers, and they wanted these to accompany them; that was the essential part of the publicity stunt.

He Was Interested.

Eden was interested all right. He also was very sociably inclined. He was somewhat at a loss, however. English "pressmen," as they call them, are not as aggressive as their Yankee brethren. Anthony wasn't exactly sure how to behave when manhandled by our journalists. "What'll I do?" he queried rather helplessly: "Make a speech to the boys," Krum advised him. So he made a little speech, explaining how essential good housing is to democracy. It was a hit.

But the photographers? "How'll I satisfy them?" he puzzled. "Pick up one of these little slum kids and talk to him," came the admonition. "Kids? What's a kid? Oh, yes, I understand you." And he did it. Numerous good pictures!

He drew the biggest crowd on record at his National Press club luncheon. The club has had presidential guests who didn't draw as well as he did. It has had transatlantic flyers who didn't block traffic as he did, arriving and leaving.

Eden somehow is a tremendously likeable Briton. His visiting countrymen generally are a trifle superior. He's as democratic as an old shoe, as the saying is.

It's a pity that his Press club speech was off the record. Still, it will soak in gradually.

Oh, the English can learn the American newspaper psychology.

The Decies Wedding.

Years ago, when I was a news correspondent in London, Lord Decies married Vivien Gould, of the railroad Goulds, in New York. It was an international affair and his lordship, while in Gotham, got a lot of our newspaper training. Then he and his bride set up housekeeping in Slough, a London suburb. Presently Lady Decies fell ill. It was reported that she had appendicitis. If so, I knew that the United States, with that recent wedding in mind, would want the dope on it speedily.

But how to get it? You can't question an English peer too informally. I decided to try a telegram; at least that would be delivered. Not that I expected an answer. What I hadn't counted on was Lord Decies American training. Within an hour I got a 'phone call. "Don't," said his lordship, "cable that story. We're not certain that her ladyship HAS appendicitis. We don't want to scare her friends. If it proves that she has it, I promise to tell you. Of course I didn't believe him, but there was nothing else I could do, so I agreed.

A few days later a "court" was held at Buckingham palace. I glanced at the list of presentees, to see if there were any Americans. There WAS one—Lady Decies. "Oh, well," I thought, "after all, evidently she didn't have appendicitis." At that instant the 'phone rang. "This is Lord Decies. Early this morning Lady Decies was operated on for appendicitis. She's doing very well. I told you I'd tell you, and I'm doing it."

Well, what? They'd known that all the time. But they'd saved it up until the last moment, not to interfere with that "court" presentation.

Fear of Sickness Often Causes It.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ONE of the most common causes of illness is fear of sickness itself. Unscrupulous doctors fatten on the victim of such fears. Often the most thorough-going examination by a competent diagnostician often fails to relieve the anxiety. If one fear is allayed, another springs up to take its place.

Mothers, especially, are constantly haunted by the fear of illness in their children. Not content with administering to the child all the vaccines and antitoxins that the most enthusiastic hygienist could suggest, on the slightest pretext they wish the child put to bed and dosed.

The dread of sickness is much worse than a stiff brush with sickness itself. The mother is in danger of giving her child an invalid reaction which can warp and embitter life more than sickness. A lusty child may rebound from these cares in his behalf, but many a one of them is bent to the parental mold and lays the foundation for lifelong invalidism.

Related to Inhibitions.

These fears or phobias are closely related to the inhibitions. The incapacity for action and decision gives evidence of a greater lowering of nervous potential than does the impulsion. These cases are also difficult to treat once an inhibition gets started. It is easier to control a force than to create one.

As these neuroses proceed they become progressively more difficult to treat. The victims are less accessible to suggestion and persuasion, less capable of an ordered life. The paralysis and anaesthesia of the greed-neuroses are not very far from the delusions of persecution often conjured up by the paranoiac to justify his weakness.

Can't Distinguish.

There are no definite criteria by which the insane can be distinguished from the sane. In dreams one is quite insane. One is lost to the sense of proportion and reality. In dreams one has hallucinations, hears voices, is unreasonably lively or is filled with dread or horror; one fancies oneself to be a great and distinguished personage, or suffers unspeakable humiliations.

So in waking life, the line between sanity and insanity is often very narrow, and no one on earth is able to say whether a person who exhibits eccentricity is really technically insane or not.

And we may come back to the thesis with which we began this series and say it is equally impossible in these people to state whether the body is more affected than the mind. Certainly treatment or rehabilitation demands measures which are directed toward the body as well as toward the mind that controls it.

A Farmer's Diary

Retired Farmer.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I HAD often noticed a man who has a splendid home in town. His lawn is beautiful with grass and shrubs and flowers. His tiny back lot is a model garden, and he spends much time there. Whenever I saw him, as I passed, he looked somehow disturbing. He was gray and amiable looking, and I knew he was not unsociable, for I often saw him conversing with his neighbors. Then, one day, I overtook him walking toward town and invited him to ride. I had on the back some buckwheat to get ground for flour, and some potatoes for a customer.

"If I had known you were loaded so heavily," he said, "I mightn't have come."

"You have a nice place, there," I told him. "Have you always lived there?"

"Oh no," he said, quickly. "We moved here just six years ago. We had a hundred acres of second bottom out in Lucas county. It was a good farm. We got a good price for it. It had been in our family since Monroe was president." His voice trembled with emotion, which I pretended not to notice.

"How long have you farmed?" he asked me.

"All my life," I said. "It would be a sad day for me when I had to leave the open spaces—and I live on a rented farm, too."

He smiled gently. "Funny how that is," he said. "There's something about the fields a man tills that gets to be a part of him. When spring comes and the new lambs begin to skip around, and the bluebirds sing...and it's time to plow the first long furrow across the meadow, I get my spade and shut my eyes and dig and dig—but a city garden doesn't even smell the same!"

I knew what he meant. His heart is still out in those sod fields where he worked so many years "in partnership with God."

Listen, World!

A Child Is Born!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SPEAKING of Christmas presents—and presuming that you're an American parent or, at least, interested in youngsters—

I've a hunch that the best present you could give yourself would be a better understanding of the Younger Generation.

You grin—and I know what that grin means. You think it doesn't take much to understand the Younger Generation. There's nothing different about these kids today. Under the skin, they feel and think just as you did when you were their age.

All this fussin' over their pranks—well, you did a little cuttin' up, too. All this discussion of Young America's "trends" and "attitudes"...reactions and revolts—Phooey! You did some reacting and revolting yourself, back in the 90's! There's nothing new about all that kinda thing. Kids have always been like that. There's nothing different in this 1938 set-up!

You're wrong, partner — there is!

These modern youngsters are as different from our 1895 breed as we were from the little aborigines who stared, saucer-eyed, at Mister Columbus! And you'll never get next to them—nor they to you—until you admit that fact and understand the why and wherefore of it.

First off, you 'n' I were born into a world which had been following a set and accepted pattern for several hundred years. It is true, a few rumpuses had occurred.....a few adventurous scallywags had altered the map ...a few rambunctious rebels had set off some mental fireworks. But, speaking by and large, our young world conformed fairly closely to Dad's and Grandad's.

But these modern youngsters arrived in a world that had no slightest resemblance to the setting of our Youth. A World war plus a Machine Age had smashed all the old patterns to smithereens, not only geographically, but socially, financially, economically and morally. Every human setup and relationship had changed. The old tempo was gone...the old values had vanished. And—here's the important point —NOTHING HAD BEEN ESTABLISHED IN THEIR PLACE.

We, in our youth, had lived by what we considered "eternal verities.' These youngsters faced and still face a catch-as-can chaos. There are no hard and fast rules or conditions for them. Everything's mishmash. They must create new contacts...new formulas of right and wrong. GOD'S STILL IN HIS HEAVEN. ...but there's the deuce to pay in His world!

And so you have not only a new environment...but a new youthful reaction to that environment. We, as youngsters, saw life as mamma and papa told us to see it, with their sentimental paddings and discreet interpretations. These youngsters see Life-As-Is. And Life-As-Is is SOME TOUGH JOB in 1938 and '39. Mom and Dad can't explain it...generally speaking, it's as new and baffling to them as it is to Son and Sis, if not more so. None of the old by-laws will work for its handling.

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN HISTORY, IT'S UP TO YOUTH TO LEAD THE WAY!

That doesn't imply, by any means, that they are prepared for the job. They're still green ...as Youth has always been. They're still impatient and impulsive and egotistical....as Youth has always bene. They'll still reach for the moon...burn their fingers...and give themselves and others a Bum Steer.

BUT THEY WILL BRING TO THE JOB A NEW COURAGE AND A NEW CANDOR...A NEW FRANKNESS AND FEARLESSNESS....

AND FOR THIS, THEY SHOULD BE RESPECTED!

It is no longer enough to like youth—or coddle youth—or boast of its achievements. Modern Youth demands—and should receive—a new tribute. IT DEMANDS RESPECT...IT DESERVES FAITH...GIVE IT BOTH! IT IS TACKLING THE BIGGEST JOB IN HUMAN HISTORY!

"UNTO YOU A CHILD IS BORN!" So the angels sang that night in Bethlehem...so they are singing in America today. Unto YOU a child is born...a new child...a different child...a child with a glorious vision in its heart, but a tremendous handicap on its back. Help that child! Honor it! Love it! Believe in it! Follow its fearless young foosteps...its enthusiastic young clutch. It will not lead you far wrong.

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Gazing into an inverted finger-bowl, for want of a crystal, this prognosticating swami announces these changes, happenings and events for nineteen thirty-nine:

There will be fewer novel by doctors and more novels by novelists. . . . Sonja Henie will be the loveliest snow flake America sees all winter. . . . Ship news reporters will continue to inquire of important visitors from Europe: "What do you think of American women?" . . . A new dancing team will forget to bill itself as "Society's Favorites." . . .

A native Irishman who teaches school in Scotland will be the author of the prize play of the year and its title will be "The White Steed" . . . The Kentucky Derby will be run in a quagmire. . . . Fewer floods, forest fires and dry spells will harass American farmers than in recent seasons. . . . Business everywhere will be good.

* * *

THERE will be 135 first nights on Broadway and 63 of them will be very dismal indeed. . . . Joe Louis will remain heavyweight champion and the Giants will cop the National league pennant. . . . Ferde Grofe will complete his Jewel Suite in which diamonds, pearls, rubies, etc., express various modes of life. . . . Sentimental ballads of the 1890 variety will supplant the streamlined ditties along Tin Pan alley. . . . Cab Calloway will compile another anthology of jitterbug lingo.

Ice skating will enjoy its greatest vogue. . . . Businessmen will wear more derbies than ever. . . . Grover Whalen will lop off his famous moustache. . . . Billy Rose will steal the midway thunder at the fair. . . . More American tourists will trek to Hawaii, the West Indies and Alaska than ever before and fewer to Europe. . . . Somebody will discover that spinach is really harmful to children after all. . . . The prize novel of the year will be written by an ex-concert pianist, and it will concern a murder in West Virginia.

* * *

THE oft - predicted tidal - wave will not sweep Manhattan into the sea during 1939. . . . We will have plenty of opportunity to see whether the Monroe Doctrine really works. . . . By September the big political catfight for 1940 will be well under way. . . . The newest vogue in fingernails will be polka-dot. . . . The phonograph record industry will enjoy a tremendous boom. . . . The Rome-Berlin axis is going to snap like a stale cruller.

The Lindberghs will return to America, Corrigan won't take off unannounced for Ireland, and the tyrolean hat will take its rightful place in the Smithsonian Institution. . . . Mah Jong will enjoy a tremendous return to popularity, and the sets won't be so expensive (that's the only thing that killed it before—the sets cost so much) . . .

Radio entertainment will show a continued trend toward intellectual games. . . . "Tobacco Road" will go into its 7th year on Broadway, thereby creating an all-time long-distance record. . . . Southern California will finally score on Duke in the Rose Bowl, but the final score will be: Duke 10, U. S. C. 7.

Remember, this isn't my idea. . . . I'm only telling you what the bowl tells me.

SCHOOL HEADS ENDORSE GROSS RECEIPTS TAX

Tell Lutz New Levy, Definite Appropriation Needed to Save Foundation Plan.

Favoring continuation of the state school foundation program, 15 city and county school officials Saturday told Ralph Lutz, Richland county representative to the general assembly, that a gross receipts tax and a definite annual appropriation for schools are the best means of saving the program.

The school heads, who met with Lutz at his request, were unable, however, to propose any method of paying off the foundation program's $17,000,000 deficit which has accumulated in the past three years.

Lutz told the superintendents and board members that he favored a gross receipts tax over the present sales tax and pledged himself to back any measure which would relieve local school boards of the obligation to pay interest on school foundation notes authorized by the state.

Predicts Special Session.

Lutz, who was re-elected to the general assembly in November, predicted Gov. Martin L. Davey would call a special session of the legislature before Jan. 1 to re-enact the liquid fuel tax and cigaret tax which provide a part of the school's operating funds.

"The state made a step forward in adopting the foundation program," Supt. W. L. Miller of Mansfield schools said. "It helped the small schools and gave all schools a financial foundation on which to build."

The major problems in connection with the program, he said, are liquidating its deficit, paying interest on loans required as a result of inadequate financing, and perpetuation of the program.

Supt. L. C. Stingel of the Springfield township schools proposed that the state make support of the schools an obligation against the general fund and require them to operate within their budget, just as any other state institution.

Lutz pointed out, however, that if certain taxes were not earmarked specifically for school purposes, they would not be renewed when they expire.

He said he opposed the present law which requires replacement of all school buses after they are eight years old. He forecast action by the legislature to modify the law.

The group was in general agreement that the sales tax law is not producing the income it should because buyers fail to demand their tax stamps.

TRIBUTE PAID CARDOZO, LATE COURT JUSTICE

Hughes, Cummins Give Eulogy to Justice; Passing Loss to Nation, They Say.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes and Attorney General Homer S. Cummings joined today in paying tribute to the memory of the late Associate Supreme Court Justice Benjamin Nathan Cardozo.

The eulogies came as Cummings formally presented to the supreme court, with the request that it be placed in the Tribunal's permanent records, a resolution eulogizing Cardozo adopted by a special meeting of members of the high court bar held here last month.

Terming the death of Cardozo last summer "a grievous loss to the court and the nation," the resolution said that "a measure of his greatness" could be found in the recognition that in less than six years on the bench "he was able to make such an enduring impress on the constitutional history of the United States."

Expressing his personal feelings after he had presented the resolution, Cummings traced Cardozo's judicial career through 19 years on the New York court of appeals and five years on the high bench and pointed to many of Cardozo's contributions to American jurisprudence.

"Mr. Justice Cardozo has reached the end of his journey," Cummings concluded. "It has been a journey of loving service to the law and to those who live under the law. I venture to predict that, so long as our common law and our constitution persist, men will pay tribute to the memory of this shy and gentle scholar, whose heart was so pure and whose mind was so bold."

Replying on behalf of the court, Hughes said that "his brethren on the court—still awestruck by the fate which brought his career to such an untimely and tragic end—receive this tribute with hearts burdened by the sense of loss of that personal association which was to us a priceless privilege."

house in Mt. Gilead and Holmes county by a station in the courthouse at Millersburg. No announcement had yet been made as to the location of a station to serve Ashland county.

The commission said that registration and claims will be dated on the appointment card, thus starting a claimant's waiting period and claim benefits as though he had actually registered immediately after Jan. 1 when the benefits provisions of the law become operative.

By scheduling the unemployed for appointment with local and "itinerant" offices, the commission said it would be able to spread registration over a longer period, thus preventing office staffs from being overwhelmed by the rush when benefits provisions go into effect.

To be eligible for payment, applicants must have worked at least 20 weeks out of the 52 immediately preceding the filing of their applications. They must have held jobs for which unemployment insurance law is applicable.

No appointment cards will be issued prior to Dec. 27, nor after Dec. 31, when they will be issued by the local branch offices, the commission said.

In filing claims, workers must present their social security cards, an employment service identification card which is received when they register for work, and a 'separation notice" from their last employer if they have lost their jobs since Oct. 1, 1938.

The commission said, however, workers who have lost their jobs in a "mass separation"—when 25 or more are laid off simultaneously—and those who have left their jobs prior to Oct. 1 will not be required to present separation reports.

Gerald E. Lewis of Shelby today was among the claims examiners appointed by the Ohio Unemployment Compensation commission, dispatches from Columbus said. The appointment becomes effective today.

EXAMINATIONS AT T. B. CLINIC UP 24 PER CENT

313 Given Tests During 1938, Increase of 87 Over Last Year, Report Shows.

Eighty-seven more persons were examined in Richland county tuberculosis clinics during the past year than there were in 1937, the annual clinic report compiled by Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, showed today.

During the year 313 individuals appeared for diagnosis at the monthly clinics as compared with 226 in 1937, Dr. Rehder said. This represents an increase of 24 per cent over the number examined last year from Mansfield, Shelby and the remainder of the county.

The clinics, which were inaugurated in 1936 as a means of tuberculosis control, are financed solely by the sale of Christmas seals.

During 1938 approximately $3,700 was available from this source. Next year it is expected that $4,000 will be available, according to George H. Smith in charge of the Mansfield seal sale.

City's Goal $3,000

Of this amount, $3,000 is expected to be raised in Mansfield, $800 in Shelby and $200 from the remainder of the county. Smith said today that approximately $1,600 had been received so far from the sale that is being handled entirely by mail this year and is scheduled to close Friday.

Of the 313 suspects who were examined in the clinics during the past year, there were 47 positive cases, of which 22 were in the advanced stage, the report showed.

Dr. Rehder said that the 13 far advanced cases detected in the clinics this year was seven less than last year.

He said an effort was being made through the health department and private physicians to have all suspected cases and contacts brought to the clinics which are held once a month at the Mansfield General hospital under the supervision of Dr. T. L. Bliss of Akron.

"The more cases that are discovered in the incipient stages, the fewer the advanced cases will be as the clinic progresses over the years," Dr. Rehder said. "Incipient cases are much more easily checked and recover in less time."

The report showed that 171 persons had been examined at the quarterly re-check clinics conducted for following up cases that had previously been under suspicion and had showed a negative test. Of this number, 92 were recorded as positive cases and 79 non-tubercular, Dr. Rehder said.

LEADERS NAMED

Boy Scouts Ready for Winter Camp Opening Dec. 27.

Leaders for the annual Boy Scout winter camp to be held at Camp Avery Hand, Dec. 27 to Dec. 31, were named today by Floyd Dent, area scout executive.

The entire camp program will be in charge of D. D. Montoya, area field executive. He will be assisted by Richard Sowash, Fred Lavender, Richard Sowash, Blaine Sellers, Robert Burns and William Doolittle. Sellers will be camp cook.

Special programs are being planned for each night at camp with Carl Wachenschwanz of Ashland, game management agent for the Charles Mill dam, the speaker one evening.

Thirty scouts have signed to attend the camp and no more registrations will be accepted because of the lack of space, Dent said. Most of the scouts registered are from Mansfield, Galion and Shelby.

Ferguson Seeking to Halt Liquor Hauling Contracts

OFFERS PLAN TO SAVE STATE HALF MILLION

Auditor Suggests Elimination of Private Storages, Truck Service for Economy.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS — Private warehousing and trucking of state liquor will be dealt a death thrust if State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson's plan to have the state store and haul its own liquor gains favor with the Republican administration, it was indicated today.

Storage and truck firms have benefitted to the extent of approximately $500,000 a year since the state liquor monopoly law has been in effect, Ferguson said.

Under the present setup the state is charged 10 cents a case per month for storage of whiskies, gins and other alcoholic beverages. Last year the state stored, at various times, 400,000 case of liquor in the five privately-owned warehouses.

Made $85,500 Profit.

Trucking from the warehouses to the state liquor stores also has been a munificent enterprise. This fact was brought out last winter when it was revealed by a senate investigating committee that the Shaw Transport Co., made a gross profit of $82,500 in one year.

And, it was revealed, the Shaw company merely leased the trucking rights to the U. S. lines, paying that company 11½ cents a case and keeping a profit of 5½ cents a case.

At those rates, Ferguson said, the state has been paying hundreds of thousands of dollars to outside trucking interests to haul state liquor from warehouses to stores.

Ferguson said he intended to confer with Gov.-Elect John W. Bricker on his plan shortly after the new administration takes office on Jan. 9.

He said that another expense to the state which could be eliminated through state-operated warehouses and trucks was the paying of two cents for each report made by the warehouser to the Federal government.

Warehousers are required to make these reports on movement of liquors for federal records. Little work is attached to filling them out, Ferguson said, but the state must pay two cents for each one.

Although he has considered state operation of five warehouses throughout the state, Ferguson said he also has given study to the suggestion that stores be serviced from one central warehouse, a plan which is in operation in Iowa.

Duchess Second of 'Best Dressed' Women In World

PARIS —(U.P.)— The Duchess of Windsor was dethroned as the queen of fashion in the annual poll of the Paris dressmakers today when they selected Mme. Antenor Patino, Spanish "tin princess" for the top position in their list of the world's 10 best-dressed women.

Mme. Patino is a daughter-in-law of Simon Patino, the Bolivian "tin millionaire" who is famous in his own right as one of the world's richest men. The duchess was ranked second, well ahead of the remainder of the field. Those ranking as the 10-best dressed, according to stylists, are:

1. Mme. Antenor Patino.
2. The Duchess of Windsor.
3. The Duchess of Kent.
4. Baronne Eugene de Rothschild, the former Catherine Wolff of Philadelphia.
5. The Begum Aga Khan.
6. Mrs. Harrison Williams.
7. The Marquise de Paris.
8. Mrs. Gilbert Miller.
9. Senora Martinez de Hoz.
10. Mme. Jean Dupuy, the former Dorothy Spreckles of California.

For the first time the poll gave some runners-up, including Countess Barbara Haugwitz von Reventlow, Lady Elsie de Wolfe Mendl and Mme. Georges Bonnet.

Up and Down THE STREET

William A. Springer, secretary-treasurer of Ohio Brass, is probably the only Mansfielder who ever saw F. Donald Coster—and he saw him only a day before the head of the huge eastern drug concern committed suicide so dramatically. Springer was eating lunch in a New York restaurant Thursday when a companion commented that a man at a nearby table looked familiar. "He looks like Coster," was his comment. Later it was learned that the man was Coster—but none of those present knew then that he was Philip Musica, swindler, or that a day later he would be dead by his own hand.

The Rams are music lovers. Thirty-eight students of government in the Loudonville high school came to Mansfield today to see how a trial is conducted. Visiting the courthouse in a group, the pupils arrived in time this morning to see a jury selected to hear a $4,500 damage suit. But the group missed hearing Richland county's jurist, Judge C. H. Huston, who was replaced on the bench by Judge D. A. Cook of Lorain county, who was called here to preside during the trial of the case.

SUSPECT JAILED

Mine Foreman Accused in New Bloody Harlan Murder.

HARLAN, Ky. — (AP) — Former Deputy Sheriff Perry G. Noe, 34, was dead today, the victim of a fusillade of bullets.

Sheriff Herbert C. Caywood said John Lee, 40-year-old Highsplint mine formeman, was jailed and charged with murder after Noe was killed yesterday on a railroad track.

Noe, a Harlan anti-labor conspiracy trial defendant, worked as a watchman at the Highsplint Coal company, near where the shooting occurred. Lee is a Highsplint mine forman.

"Perry and Lee had some trouble Saturday night, and it's my opinion the shooting was a result of this," Caywood said.

At the labor trial in London, Ky., Noe testified that he had never "shadowed" union organizers nor taken part in any other anti-union activities.

KILLS SON, SELF IN YULE TRAGEDY

Mother, Decorating Christmas Tree, Ends Life After Quarrel.

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—A Christmas tragedy brought death to Mrs. Helen Wellet, 26, and her son, Jimmy, 4.

Three of them were draping the Christmas tree yesterday—Jimmy, his mother and his father, James Wellet. A quarrel arose. Wellet left. When he came back he found his wife and son shot to death, a .22 caliber pistol nearby.

"We had a quarrel about spending money for Christmas," Wellet sobbed to Detective Lieut. A. E. Winter. He pointed to a note left by Mrs. Wellet. It read:

"Jim: I think this way is best."

OPPOSE HOPKINS FOR ROPER POST

Senators Disclose They Will Fight Confirmation Should Appointment Be Made.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Rumbling of a fight in the senate against confirmation of WPA Administrator Hrry L. Hopkins, should President Roosevelt appoint him secretary of commerce, was heard on Capitol Hill today.

Senators King (D) of Utah, and Holt (D) of West Virginia, were among the first to reveal they would oppose Hopkins' confimation.

Other Democrats also were said to be feeling low over the drumfire of reports Hopkins would be named to succeed Secretary Daniel C. Roper when his resignation becames effective Thursday.

Republican senators said they were canvassing the situation. There were predictions in the minority party that a fight would be waged against Hopkins.

While President Roosevelt has given no hint on whether he will nominate Hopkins, strategy lines already were being laid in the senate. It was definitely indicated that the anticipated nomination would be referred to committee for a report.

One Republican leader disclosed privately that he would object to immediate confirmation of Hopkins. This senator declined to permit use of his name on the ground he did not want to anticipate what the president would do. The objection of a single senator usually results in reference of a nomination to committee.

Nomination of Hopkins would go to the senate commerce committee for investigation and report. That committee is likely to be headed by Senator Bailey (D) of North Carolina, who, on several occasions, has bitterly assailed Hopkins on the floor of the senate.

SET $4,707 LOST

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Three robbers last night escaped with $4,707 in a holdup at a bus garage of the Cleveland Railway company. Frank Foran, 40, en employe, was struck on the head with a revolver when he bumped into one of the robbers in a doorway as he started to leave the garage.

SALES TAX RECEIPTS UP $1,200 REFLECT GAIN IN RETAIL TRADE

A marked gain in retail holiday business in Richland county this month over December, 1937, is reflected in an increase of more than $1,200 in sales tax receipts for the first week of the month over a corresponding period last year.

Figures released by State Treasurer Clarence Knisley show that Richland county's collections for the first week of this month were $11,373 as compared with $9,946 in the same period last December.

Forty-seven of the state's 88 counties showed gains this year, with most of the increase in the industrial centers.

Richland county ranked seventh in the state in per capita collections to Nov. 5 this year, with each resident in the county paying an average of $5.14 in sales tax to that time, Knisley's figures showed.

Franklin county, which includes Columbus, toped the list in collections per person, with $7.41 paid in to Nov. 5. Lowest in Ohio was Vinton county, an unproductive region in the southern part of the state, where each person paid only 79 cents in sales tax to Nov. 5.

Only counties above Richland in per capita payments were Franklin, Allen, Cuyahoga, Hamilton, Lucas and Montgomery, all thickly populated, indicating better enforcement of the sales tax law in those sections or that industrial workers do more buying than rural residents.

Sales tax receipts in the state to Nov. 5 this year amounted to $34,029,658, a drop of approximately $11,000,000 from collections for a corresponding period in 1937.

HUNTS THIEVES

Sheriff on Trail of Farm Food Supply Bandits.

Sheriff E. P. Long was searching today for thieves who raided the winter meat supplies at three Richland county farms, stealing 15 chickens, a 350-pound calf, two hams and a quantity of bacon.

The chickens were stolen from a coop on the Roy Rogers farm in Franklin township, while the hams and bacon were reported missing from a smokehouse at the Edward Johnson farm in the same community.

In the southeastern part of the county, the calf was stolen from a barn on a farm owned by J. R. Taylor of near Newville, authorities said.

A calf was butchered and stolen from a farm near the Taylor property several weeks ago, and it was believed the same persons may have been responsible for both thefts.

BODIES OF DAD, DAUGHTER FOUND

Pilots See Boat Victims Afloat Near Miami Shore.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—(AP)—The bodies of Charles S. Rye, 50, United States Steel corporation, official of Pittsburgh, Pa., and his six-year-old daughter, Dorothy, who had been missing since they started on a fishing trip Thursday, were found in Biscayne bay today.

Identification was made by Charles A. McCaleb of Elmhurst, Ill., a brother-in-law who flew here yesterday.

An airplane pilot sighted the bodies afloat near the Miami Beach shore, across the bay from where the empty motorboat washed ashore yesterday.

HEARS KILLER'S PLEA

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The state parole board today was to hear an appeal for clemency for Steve Figuli, Cleveland bandit, under sentence to be electrocuted Wednesday at Ohio penitentiary for the killing of Policeman Robert Cline, Columbus.

HOW CAN THEY ACCEPT HONOR? OFFICIAL ASKS

Secretary Challenges Pair to Explain Why Birthrights Are Not Forfeited.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — Henry Ford, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, and other Americans who accept medals from dictators had a challenge today from Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes to explain why their American birthright is not forfeit.

Ickes, speaking last night at the annual Hanukkah banquet of the Cleveland Zionist society, asked, "How can any American, who calls himself a christian, or who pretends to believe in the enlightened principles that constitute the warp and woof of our American life, accept a decoration at the hand of a brutal dictator who, with that same hand, is robbing and torturing thousands of fellow human beings?

"Perhaps Henry Ford and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will be willing to answer the question. Nor are these the only two free citizens of a free country who obsequiously have accepted tokens of contemptuous distinction at a time when the bestower of them counts that day lost when he can commit no new crime against humanity."

Recalls Ford Statement.

Ford, in an authorized statement last Nov. 30, said: "My acceptance of a medal from the German people does not, as some people seem to think, involve any sympathy on my part with Nazism. Those who have known me for many years will realize that anything that breeds hate is repulsive to me."

Ickes took a passing slap at "the cunning and spiteful intolerance of the chairman of the congressional investigating committee who, by some mischance, finds himself clothed with a little brief authority, in the wanton exercise of which he violates every rule of decency and fair play."

Ickes said he wished America might be thrown open to political refugees, but "we must faithfully carry out the laws of congress limiting immigration. It is not to be wondered at that the hapless and harrassed Jews should turn in hope to their ancient land of Palestine, and perhaps by our moral and material support we can help to make it possible for them to return to the land of their fathers."

SEAL APPEAL

Mansfielders Asked to Speed Up Yule Stamp Checks.

Mrs. H. C. Brokaw, chairman of the Christmas seal sale in Richland county, today issued an appeal to Mansfielders to send in their check for the stamps which have been mailed to them.

In other parts of the county, Mrs. Brokaw explained, seals are sold by solicitation, and heads of the seal campaign have a constant check on progress of their drive.

Mansfield, she said is the only place in the county where seals are mailed out, and persons receiving them asked to mail money or checks back to the city chairman, George H. Smith, Mansfield Printing company.

To date, Mrs. Brokaw said, returns from Mansfield have been slow. She urged recipients of seals to send in checks immediately so campaign officials could determine how the sale stands.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Fascists Now Hard Put to Find Enough Objects On Which to Vent Their Hate

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Two developments of the past week indicate that political cannibalism has broken out in Rome and Berlin, where Fascist and Nazi have now decided to devour their own kind.

In Italy the middle class is marked for ridicule, punishment and extinction, and in Germany it is discovered that there are pure Aryans who have the same lust for profits, the same cunning and the same unscrupulousness as attributed by the Nazi leaders to the Jew.

The campaign or ridicule which has been decreed against the Italian middle class will be watched with interest by professional writers in countries where repartee has free play, because under free conditions the one who deals in ridicule must be careful lest his victim top his gag and leave him gaping. Tilting an opponent who is a mere victim without the right to strike back is like working out on the body-bag in the gym and likely to develop the defects of overconfidence and carelessness.

It is the risk of a return blow that makes for caution and skill in the preparation of material, and it seems highly improbable that the official competition for Italian writers and cartoonists arranged by the Fascist party will produce the best of which they are capable.

In fact, the writers and artists of both Italy and Germany have been developing artistic muscle to the neglect of subtlety and timing, and this new competition is likely to make Italians still more leg-heavy and ponderous. They have forgotten how to duck and have been flattened several times in international repartee by references to Guadalajara— a tender name in Fascist history—and to the Italian persecution of the German minority in the former Austrian territory in connection with Mussolini's support of Hitler's liberation of the oppressed Sudetens.

It was at Guadalajara that the contemptible Communist-Spanish rabble met Mussolini's indomitable blackshirts, the irresistible instruments of the Duce's inflexible will, in the first real test of Fascist valor under the conditions of modern war.

In this critical and very embarrassing jam the iresistible legions lost their sense of direction and advanced to the rear with such rapidity that severe casualties from trampling were reported to the Duce in Rome. Italian writers and artists avoided the flight of Guadalajara as inopportune and, when others outside Italy pinked them with it, begged the question to hammer away at the topic of gangsterism, in which, again, they were topped from the outside by citations from the records of history and the American police.

* * *

If the Italian middle class is now an enemy of the regime after all these years of Mussolini and Fascism that obviously must mean that a great body of genuine Italians—natives with many honors for achievement in art, war and other fields—have resisted Fascism, even as the people of the contemptible democracies. It must mean also that many Italians of racial purity, men and women beyond the reproach of alienism or Bolshevism—for the middle class is never Communistic—are a worry to the Duce in his own land.

* * *

Dispatches from Rome report that these people are to be ridiculed as enemies of the Italian nation because they have maintained the old, civilized custom of shaking hands. Without the benefit of counter-propaganda the Italian people may be led to regard this as a menacing evil in their midst, but to outsiders it will indicate that the Duce has become very hard up for internal enemies, having wiped out all aggressive dissent from the left—and is now forced to feed his people's hatred with the gore of their own kin.

The Nazi discovery is less startling, although the admission of it does burn a few pages of the Nazi's own book. It has never been any secret to most Aryans that they are blood brothers in race to unscrupulous men of cunning, who lust for profits. It was no secret, either that the Communists at one time polled a vote ten times the number of the total Jewish population, including children, leaving the conclusion that Bolshevism in Germany was overwhelmingly Aryan under free conditions.

But Hitler, too, has just about exhausted the original roster of internal enemies and, like the Duce, is reduced to state cannibalism.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—From Carole Lombard to George King: Congratulations.

Miss Lombard presented the same to Mr. King because he had accomplished (1) what she had been unable to do and (2) what no movie script had been able to do, and (3) what no woman had been able to do.

Mr. Gable, for these many years, had gone through life practically without stepping on a dance floor. Even during the simple motions of a one-step or a waltz (does anyone remember?) Mr. Gable always has suffered from acute shyness. Mr. King, with a few simple instructions and a large amount of co-operation, had turned Mr. Gable not only into a dancer but into a hoofer.

He earned the Lombard's congratulations—and Gable has earned something else. Whether he is appreciative or not, he has this department's unstinted admiration. Any man gets the same who is Gable's size and yet will cheerfully go through with a job of work that he thinks makes him look silly.

* * *

Mr. King, it is true, had a powerful weapon. He had the script of "Idiot's Delight." If Gable were to have any part of that script, he had to hoof. Gable wanted it. He hoofed.

I watched the result during the filming of his hoofing scene, and I predict right now that Clark Gable is going to be a wow. It's the scene in the hotel lobby wherein Gable's vaudeville troupe entertain's to relieve the new war's tension among the guests. His audience includes Norma Shearer as the blond (and phony) Russian countess, Edward Arnold as the munitions manufacturer, Pat Paterson as the young American bride, and Charles Coburn as the scientist. On the sidelines the audience includes everybody on the lot who has managed to sneak in. (When Garbo talked it was nothing to this!)

So Clarence Brown gave the signal, and Gable, preceded by his chorus of six blond dancers, hoofed on. He wore a wide-brimmed straw hat of uncertain vintage, a tux, and a broad grin—and to the recorded tune of "Puttin' on the Ritz" Mr. Gable "gave." Self-consciously, true, but he produced—and that scene ought to steal the picture.

* * *

For six weeks Gable and King, who is the Metro dance director, labored evenings on the hoofing routine. Two hours a day Gable gave to perfecting his technique in the "corny" steps of a not-so-hot vaudevillian of the middle 1920's—and his weight, normally around 190 pounds, which is hefty for a hoofer, has been reduced. In one day's hoofing before the camera, his net poundage loss was six.

Success with Gable, however, has brought its penalty for King.

"I've just had word," he said, "that I'm to work on 'Let Freedom Ring.' All I have to do is teach Victor MacLaglen to do an Irish Reel!"

LIVED ON MILK

Warren Tailor Dies, Drank Quart Daily For 20 Years.

WARREN — (AP) — John Flaherty, a tailor at neighboring Niles whose died for the last 20 years consisted only of milk, died in a hospital here yesterday at the age of 75.

He began the diet in 1917. From that time, he drank only a quart of milk a day. His weight dropped from 185 to 110 pounds, but he maintained fair health.

Informally Speaking...

By MARIANNE

Monday, December 19.

Lucy, Dear:

With Christmas so near at hand, there's been precious little time for me to gather up any choice bits of news for you. Christmas shopping after hours, attending holiday dances, and meeting interesting people have made the busy days seem just like suitcases . . . You know, the kind that you strain and tug and sit on to get shut . . . and still things hang out the sides.

* * * * *

This past week-end has been filled to the brim with formal dances . . . and still another one is on the program for tonight . . . the annual Muster-Cheer ball. I'm so sorry you couldn't get down for it because all of Mansfield is planning to attend. There will probably be a flock of parties before hand, too, but it's safe to bet that none of them will be quite as large as the one Cliff Sherrard is giving . . . he's invited all of 70 guests to his "cyclone cellar" to start the ball rolling!

* * * * *

Did I tell you that the Elks actually permitted women to enter their portals for the first time in years Friday night? It was the younger members who accomplished the seemingly impossible, but to everyone's amusement, the older members and their wives were as much in evidence at the Christmas dance as were the younger ones. Fred Fisher, Bob Small and Harry Wineland were responsible for the successful change (although the countless sandwiches and olives along with punch and coffee probably had some little bit to do with it, too).

* * * * *

JUST everyone is downtown these days. I saw Leeta Maxwell buying stamps for her Christmas cards in the postoffice—she had the petite Judy . . . who looks like a dainty little flaxen-haired china doll . . . perched on one of the writing tables. The little tot was much too engrossed in her shirred blue velvet muff to think of toppling off the desk.

* * * * *

Arta Cairns, the lucky lady, just drove by in her new streamlined coupe. If you could see it, you'd probably be every bit as envious as I am. It is of a paint job far removed from the usual black or gray . . . a gleaming teal blue . . . and extremely good looking.

* * * * *

There was really a bevy of beauties at the Tri-Gam Christmas dance at the Leland Saturday night. I do believe that everyone had a new formal because the girls all looked as though they had just stepped from the latest issue of Vogue. Quite a few of the dancing ladies ventured the new strapless gowns. . . . Helen Anderson's orchid taffeta was especially lovely and set off her up-swept curls in fine style.

* * * * *

EILEEN LOGAN and Dorothy Yauger were charming and graceful in hoopskirts—Dorothy had a floor length matching wrap with flattering leg-o-mutton sleeves. I wish I had asked Betty Myers how many yards of tulle were in her formal . . . I can't begin to describe the voluminous fluffy white skirt which cascaded from a tight-fitting bodice . . . and I couldn't help but admire the ease with which she managed it.

* * * * *

Perhaps the most unique costume at the dance was Olive Scott's. She wore a long green satin tunic which was embroidered with gold Chinese figures . . . quite a far cry from the strapless gowns, with its high neck and long sleeves . . . oh, yes, there were gold Mandarin pants peeking from beneath the hem of the tunic!

* * * * *

All varieties of hair ornamentation were in evidence . . . from flowers, combs, and rhinestone clips to the more recent innovation of a perky bow at the crown of the head, with streamers falling to the shoulders . . . Winnie Senieff was an advocate of this as were three or four others.

* * * * *

THE annual avalanche of vacationing college students has already begun. This past week-end brought in David Droz from East St. Louis, who will graduate from Parks Air college next September . . . at 19 instead of the customary 21. . . . I guess you'd expect that, though because if you remember, Dave was an "A" student all through senior high. One of the officers of J-club at Ohio university arrived home Friday. . . . J-club is a junior men's honorary, so Cliff Scouten is quite proud . . . did you know that he's also vice president of his fraternity, Pi Kappa Alpha?

* * * * *

A quintet of students from the University of Dayton will be in town until Jan. 4. I imagine you know most of them, Philip Carroll, Robert Jurgens, William Michal, Martin Moritz and Harold Reindl . . . Harold, by the way, was a member of the Pershing Rifles, honorary military society on the campus—that's quite an honor for anyone, and especially a freshman. Michal is a senior at the university, president of the glee club, and male lead in a series of radio plays to be given over the air soon.

* * * * *

That seems to be all of the news today, so until next week, Merry Christmas and

Much love,
MARIANNE.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Quiet Ceremony Unites Couple At Church Yesterday

In a quiet ceremony at high noon yesterday, Miss Ruth Rhonehouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rhonehouse, 121 West Fourth street, became the bride of William Echols. Mr. Echols is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Guy Echols of Sandusky. The service was read before the altar of the Grace Episcopal church by Rev. M. G. Nicola, pastor of the church.

The couple was unattended, and the bride wore a blue crepe street length dress with black accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of pink rosebuds tied with silver ribbon. There was a dinner for the immediate families and a few close friends at the Rhonehouse home after the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Echols left early in the afternoon on a motor trip, and after the middle of January will be at home to friends in Marion, where Mr. Echols is employed.

More Students In City Vacationing Over Christmas

With the Christmas holidays so near at hand, the number of college students returning to Mansfield is increasing daily. Paul L. Hehman, senior in the College of Engineering at the University of Detroit, is spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hehman, 15 Western avenue.

The six Mansfield students who are enrolled at the College of Wooster arrived in Mansfield over the week-end and will remain until Jan. 3. Miss Margaret Maul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. P. Mrs. Ora Yoha read a Christmas story to the group, and the program was concluded with the singing of a Christmas carol by Mrs. Claude Ewing, accompanied by Mrs. Cashell.

After a buffet luncheon, the group adjourned until Jan. 6 when they will meet at the home of Mrs. Chester Secrist, South Main street road.

Mansfield Musicians Play at Crestline Party

When Mrs. Ira Foster, over Crestline way, entertained this past week-end at her annual Christmas party two young Mansfield musicians were the artists. The brother and sister team, Anne Jeanette and Billy Klinger, provided piano and violin music and accompanied the choral singing.

The 9-year-old boy and his 14-year-old sister, who are the children of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Klinger, 40 Reba avenue, are popular in music circles in this city.

CLUBS CONTINUE WITH PRE-HOLIDAY PARTIES

Mid-Week Affairs to Center of Stage; Two Dances Set by Sororities; Miss Edna Bookwalter Only Christmas Bride-Elect.

By FRANCES E. GENSLEY

IT'S ALMOST Christmas, and things that were as well as those that are to be, are producing plenty of busy moments in the lives of club leaders. With the children from kindergarten to graduate school home, and relatives from near and far arriving for the holidays considerable of the activity this week will center around the home.

Looking Over the Week's Calendar

Tri-Gam girls entertained at the first of the pre-Christmas dances Saturday night, at the Leland and all the youngsters in families of Legionnaires and auxiliary members enjoyed a party at the Gardner garage on Sunday, but otherwise the past two days have witnessed little excitement.

There's seldom much of unusual importance scheduled for the first part of the week, socially, nevertheless there are a number of rather interesting events on the program for this evening among Mansfield social and club organizations.

Let's take a look at the calendar and see what's what—not only tonight, but for the balance of the week. Perhaps we'll find more than the usual activity despite the fact that a lot of us still have that last-minute Chrismas shopping to get done. (What in the world IS there to buy, ayhow?)

Monday.

Girls of Kappa Delta Gamma, educational association, will party tonight at the Towne House, and the Misses Margaret Wheeler, Lucille Beatty and Dora McLeod have had their heads together for several days now fixing things up for their sorority sisters.

The same evening members of the C. I. O. auxiliary and their youngsters will frolic at the hall on Park street.

Tuesday.

When that vivacious group of Beta Sigma Phi girls get together and plan a party it's pretty sure to be something extraordinary. Tuesday evening they'll be making merry at a progressive dinner. Mrs. John Bissman (Elizabeth Weinert) is the first hostess, and the sorority members will progress from her house to Ruth Workman's, Then on to the sponsor's home, Miss Lena Colgan, widing up at Aileen Hughes' place.

After having two lovely guest parties in the past couple of weeks, Chi Sigma girls are going to have a party just for themselves after their business session at the hotel Tuesday night. An exchange of gifts is scheduled. Alpha Pi Sigma members will make final plans for their Dec. 28 buffet supper tomorrow night when they have a session at the Leland.

If personal experience is to be relied upon then it's a fact that women in the Sorosis club will have an impressive and pleasant party tomorrow night when they meet at the home of Mrs. W. E. King for their holiday celebration. The arrangement committee for the affair includes Mrs. W. J. Bishop, Mrs. A. E. Courtney and Mrs. W. H. Gifford.

Wednesday.

Few affairs are scheduled for the end of the week, but Mrs. Eugene Linham will entertain members of the Junior Sorosis at her home Wednesday night for a regular meeting. Some of the smaller clubs and several church organizations will be meeting the end of the week also.

Mrs. Paul Stephens will entertain Philomathian club members at her new home on Shepherd road day after tomorrow. Ardis Linzee, Mrs. Tom Ford and Mrs. Lewis Hartman are attending to the tinsel and trimmings.

Friday.

Miss Edna Bookwalter has the advantage of being the only girl in town to announce her intention to wed during the winter holidays. She will become the bride of Marvin Stevens at 1 p. m. at the First Lutheran church Friday.

Delano lodge members, women of the auxiliary, and all the youngsters will have a family party at the hall Friday night. The Lady Garfield council and the Sarah E. Lewis Junior club will have routine sessions Friday also.

And Christmas Eve, which has always seemed to be the special private property (in a way) of Beta Kappa Tau will be the occasion for the sorority's holiday dance. The girls will hold their formal closed dance at the Grotto hall.

Surprise Party Honors Kathleen Mary Diemer

A surprise party in celebration of her eleventh birthday was given for Kathleen Mary Diemer by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Diemer, at their home on West First street, recently.

Games and contests were diversions of the afternoon and prizes were won by Darlene Craig, Shirley Bowers, Mary Ellen Seeburger, and Dorothy Walter.

Luncheon was served at a large table decorated with appointments in keeping with the holiday season. The honoree received many gifts from her little friends at this time.

Guests present for the affair were Peggy Toltz, Shirley Bowers, Darlene Craig, Peggy Hess, Betty Hassenger, Elaine Miller, Mary Ellen Seeburger, Gloria McKinley, Dorothy Walter, Mary Jane Diemer and Eleanor Brandt.

Music Teachers Present Group In Monthly Recital

Marie Marks Porterfield, instructor in piano, and Mrs. E. D. Gibson, teacher of violin, presented a group of their students in recital Saturday afternoon in keeping with the custom they established this fall of having joint monthly recitals.

Violinists appearing before the group of 50 friends and relatives at the Park avenue west residence were Bobby Hart, Eleanor Homerick, Felecia Burket, Jim Curry, Parker Long, Mildred Hart, Billy Klinger, and Richard Griesbach.

Two P.T.A.'s Plan Session During Pre-Holiday Week

Even though school vacation is only a few days off, and the youngsters at John Simpson have already been excused so that work may be started on the building, a few parent and teacher groups are still holding pre-holiday business sessions and parties.

The John Simpson junior high P. T. A. meeting which was set for tomorrow night has been postponed until arrangements can be made to conduct regular meetings. "Christmas With the Snow Men" is the title of the play to be given by children of all grades Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the Prospect school before the P. T. A. The teachers are in charge, and carols will be sung during the meeting.

West Fifth street school P. T. A. also will meet the same evening for a Christmas play, recitations and songs which will be presented by children of all grades. These two meetings are the only ones scheduled prior to the vacation.

Fathers Worry About Unwed Daughters

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Bachelor girls who make good incomes in professions and business worry very little whether they marry or not. If something superlative in the way of a suitor comes along, it's probable that they'll say "yes," but statistics show that the more succesful a woman is, the more deliberate she becomes about choosing a life partner.

Perhaps she sees too much of the storm and stress of the small income marriage going on around her. She may have a sister she has to help out—one who has a sizeable brood clamoring for shoes and balanced rations. Perhaps she enjoys life on her own terms. Success may have made her too hard to please, but there's no arguing about it. Statistics show that successful women are inclined to celibacy.

Fathers and brothers find it hard to grasp the why and wherefore of this decision on the part of their successful daughters and sisters. They tell you they'd be glad to see these higher salaried girls safely landed in marriage, seeming to think marriage offers more security, even if one marriage in every six goes on the rocks.

As one of them wrote to me, in explaining his point of view: "She will have had the experience of marriage, even if it's not perfect. It will keep her from dreaming and drifting."

But, in my humble opinion, the succesful woman bachelor who has a sizeable job on her hands dreams and drifts less than her sister, who has been unhappily married.

No one will deny that the happiest lot for women is marriage, provided the husbands they get are considerate, faithful and able to assume the responsibilities of the wedded state. But lacking these qualities, much is to be said for the lot of the present day bachelor girl, even, when she isn't a career woman.

Plain Jane Can Charm All-Comers

By MME. QUI VIVE

Plain Jane doesn't sit on the side lines any more, watching the beauty caravan go by. She finds a way, lots of ways. All she needs is a little money in the savings bank, plenty of brains under her coiffure and a will to win. What can be done to turn ugly ducklings into swans would surprise our great grandmothers out of their wits.

Every woman has a gold mine of charm, if she has the sense to dig into it, reveal the glittering loveliness that is hers. A charming voice, easily cultivated, is priceless. Good nature is akin to pulchritude, laughter, sparkling eyes, gay chatter touch the strings of our emotions, arouse admiration.

Good taste in dress makes any woman distinguished. You and I know perfectly well that the lady of fashion, beautifully attired, attracts the eye more quickly than little Dolly-face with her fluffy curls and big cow eyes. An appreciation of line and color brings out the best of one. It covers anatomical defects, it glorifies the color of hair and complexion, it makes for smartness.

* * *

Any woman who will seek out an experienced, intelligent beautician, give her permission to go the limit, will be astonished to find how many tricks there are in that trade.

Add a dash of cinnamon and a little brown sugar to the whipped-cream topping of your pumpkin pie. Another good topping is made with half a cup of white cream cheese to two cups of whipped cream.

Don't throw away bulbs grown in the house. After they are through blooming set away until leaves dry and plant in the garden in the spring. They may not bloom until the second year.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, December 20.

A day of excellent promise for enduring good fortune and stability of the affairs is promised for this day by the mutual as well as the lunar aspects. This program for expansion, achievement and prosperity, following a lull or crystallization, may result from the intervention of an elderly friend or the recognition of sound judgment and industry by a large institution. Investments or stagnant securities may take a spurt, or it may be due to political or public honors.

If It is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be congratulated on the advent of a year of great promise for advancement, expanding interests, a stabilizing of the fortunes and the solid recognition and financial support of those in prestige and power. It is a period of reaping for past diligence, sagacity and responsibility, with investments increasing and perhaps public rewards for service. It is a time for pushing to such objectives.

A child born on this day may be diligent, dependable, versatile and ambitious, and its merit and sound judgment may win it affluence and public place.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

FORSAKE YOUR HUNCH

HUNCHES ARE all right when you have nothing else to trust. But your guess regarding a situation should be disregarded if you have available some course of action which is bound to work no matter whether your idea is right or wrong. In other words, prefer a sure thing to a brilliant guess at all times.

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable).

South bid 1-Spade on this deal, North went to 2-No Trump. South rebid spades and North went to 4-Spades.

The club Q was led by West and when the dummy was exposed declarer realized he would have to lose a club and a diamond, so that he could afford to lose only one trick in trumps.

After winning the first trick with the club A, he laid down the spade A and when West dropped the Q, South, who knew him as an inveterate false-carder, figured he also held the J. He therefore played the K on the third trick and when he did he was set.

Declarer's safest play, even if West also held the J, was to have played low to the 10. That play would have disclosed that the remaining trumps were bunched in the East hand. When East then cashed the J, a finesse could have been taken through the 9-6.

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable).

What is the safest way to bid this hand?

THIS IS going to be just the grandest Christmas ever. I certainly am the most fortunate girl in the world and, come what may in the future, I'll never complain. For I have tasted complete happiness! Here I am with a new job, a wonderful job, one that not only gives me opportunity, lets me do congenial work, but pays me well, too. Then I have reconciled with the only man for whom I have ever cared. And my people are here, my dearest friends, too. What else could I wish for?

My parents are so happy that Bill and I are together again. And Consuelo is overjoyed. She always had a penchant for Bill. Madame is pleased, too. I only hope that Bill won't get a bit uppity over all the fuss that is being made about him. He is busy at the office and has two very interesting commissions, one for a community center, the other for a church. Then, too, he is serving on one of the big housing committees. So we don't have so many dates, since several meetings have been held at night in order to expedite plans.

Working at Night.

I've been spending several evenings at my office working on national promotion. But after this week we are all going to let down until after the holidays. After all, I want to spend some time with my parents and with Pam. Then there is Don and his frau and next week Guido and his wife will arrive.

Dodo is leaving for Europe directly after the holidays. I have an idea that she and her husband have reached a parting of the ways and that there will be a divorce. He cannot come over here as he has a very important job, and as Dodo wants to go to Europe anyhow, she is going over to see him. An old flame of hers has turned up again and she has been going about with him. I always had an idea that she cared for him. He is a very brilliant young surgeon and left a big practice to do research work at a famous medical foundation. We all think he is swell and he has become one of our gang.

We keep talking about getting out in the country but no one does anything about it. Maybe a nice suit like this might help. The jacket is of heavy woolen in dark brown and is lined in plaid wool in orange, blue and brown. The bias skirt and the coat collar are of the plaid. It is worn with matching plaid hat and an orange angora sweater.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

• Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I WAS a bit uncertain whether or not to expect a letter from Miss Whitlock at the general delivery window of the branch post office nearest the hotel where, Mary, Noel and I were hidden. But my uncertainty vanished when, in answer to my inquiry, the attendant passed me out a large envelope.

With a little shrug of impatience, I crammed the letter into my handbag and started back to the hotel. Of one thing I was certain. I would not open the letter until I was back safely in my own room at the hotel with the door locked. But I found myself hurrying through the streets like a hunted thing until I had reached the sanctuary of the hotel.

There was no sound from their suite when I reached my own, and I sat down in the nearest chair as breathless as if I had been running. With fingers that actually shook, I tore open the envelope.

Three smaller sealed envelopes dropped from the larger one, and with a lessening of my nerve tension I realized that they were innocuous epistles, business and social, which had been addressed me at the hotel and delivered after I had left the day before. The nurse, in meticulous obedience to the instructions I had given her, had sent them on to me. They explained the bulkiness of the envelope and relieved my anxiety for the minute.

But I found plenty of food for worry as soon as I began Miss Whitlock's letter.

"I probably shall have to telephone you in the morning," she began without preamble, "so be prepared for the call. When I got back to the hotel, the telephone operator told me that Mr. Veritzen had called repeatedly from Southhampton, trying to get you again, and was much perturbed when he found that you and his daughter-in-law had gone out. I told the clerk the story you had instructed me to give him, about your taking young Mrs. Veritzen away to the coast of South Jersey, and directed that when he called me again, he should be switched to me.

"He did call again, about an hour later, and I certainly had a time with him. I never have heard a man so icily courteous and yet so determined as he was. While he didn't come right out and call me a liar, he left no doubt of his meaning in my mind.

"I did the only thing I could, pretending to be the dumbest cluck ever let loose from a hospital—I am sending mental apologies to my training school—and stuck to my story that you went away in such a hurry you did not leave me your address, but that I was sure you would send it to me.

"The last thing he said was that he was coming to New York in the morning, and that he hoped I would have heard from you at that time. Otherwise, he said, he would be compelled to take most stringent measures for tracing you.

"He sounds most awfully determined," the page concluded, "and if I were you, I wouldn't go outside of the hotel, even to the post-office. He has a mighty keen brain, that man, and I believe he could almost read your thoughts. After he comes, if he doesn't reduce me to ashes, I'll slip out to my friend's apartment and telephone you, taking all the care possible that he doesn't succeed in having me followed closely enough to find out where I have gone, before I leave the place."

My Neighbor Says:

Santa Claus favors for Christmas parties are made with small red apples for bodies; six or seven raisins speared on a toothpick for arms and legs and marshmallows for heads, using raisins and cloves for eyes, noses and mouths. Paste piece of cotton on marshmallow for beards. For caps use red paper twisted into cornucopias.

If a drawer runs unevenly and causes trouble in opening and shutting it is not always necessary to have recourse to the carpenter, for frequently the very simple method of rubbing a little soap on the inner edges of the drawer will overcome this difficulty.

Give Filip To Holiday Dishes

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

Today we come bearing gifts—recipes of new and novel desserts for those who want something different as a wind-up to their festive feast.

Cranberry molasses pie is the first offering, and a grand one it is, too, for we had a pre-holiday sampling. It calls for one quart whole ripe cranberries, one cup brown sugar, one recipe plain pastry, one cup each granulated sugar and pure New Orleans molasses. Combine all ingredients. Cook slowly for 10 minutes. Cool. Line a nine-inch plate with pastry. Fill with mixture. Arrange lattice of pastry strips Bake in 425 F. oven for 10 minutes, then decrease heat to 350 F. and bake 30 minutes longer.

Novel Ice Cream.

Many hostesses do not feel that a holiday meal is perfect unless it includes a novel ice cream, one that is very different from the usual recipe. Such a dish is a delicate praline ice cream, made with all sorts of good things. Mix eight egg yolks with half pint of molasses. Add slowly one pint of boiling milk Put in double boiler and cook, stirring with a wooden spoon slowly. Do not let it boil. When the mixture begins to thicken, remove from fire and let it cool. Keep stirring. When cool, add one pint of heavy cream and two ounces of fresh chopped roasted almonds. Let freeze.

Gingerbread desserts are very much in the holiday mood. An easy dessert, and one popular with many a smart hostess, is to serve simple gingerbread piled high with whipped cream in which peppermint candy has been crushed fine. Or try gingerbread waffles with ice cream, a truly tasty tidbit that is not too rich for those who always have second helpings of holiday goodies.

Gingerbread Waffles.

The recipe for the delicious gingerbread waffles calls for two cups sifted flour, one and one-half teaspoons each soda and ginger, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon salt, one well-beaten egg yolk, one cup New Orleans molasses, one-half cup sour milk or buttermilk, one-third cup butter (melted) and one egg white (stiffly beaten). Sift flour, measure, add soda, spices and salt. Combine egg yolks, molasses, milk and butter. Add to flour mixture, beating until smooth. Fold in egg white. Bake in greased waffle iron—not too hot. Serve with whipped cream, sweetened and flavored as desired. It makes four four-section waffles

And as this seems to have become a molasses field-day, let's wind up for luck with a sweet confection, a molasses mousse. It requires four eggs, one cup molasses, two tablespoons orange juice, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, pinch of salt and one pint cream (whipped). Beat eggs very light, add molasses and cook in double boiler, stirring constantly until it thickens. Place dish in pan of ice and stir until creamy and cool. Add orange juice, cinnamon and salt. When well-blended, gradually pour over stiffly-beaten cream. Fill mold and pack in ice and salt (four parts to one part salt). Let stand for four hours. It serves 12.

Bread and cooky jars need careful cleaning, much airing and thorough drying before filled. The keeping qualities and flavors of the bread or cookies depend largely on the care you give the container. With many holiday cakes and cookies in the making be sure to check up on the places used for their storage.

Gifts of Major Appliances Sure to Please

Every woman, given Aladdin's wishing lamp, would ask some kind genie to impress upon her husband the fact that electrical Christmas gifts contain the magic of youthfulness, more perfect health, and time with which to enjoy the best life has to offer.

The business man who incorporates every new efficiency in his office must realize that the home, too, can be made a glorified workshop for the woman whose business it is to run it smoothly and happily for the family.

Modern living calls for the modern giving of major electrical appliances which provide Christmas gift perfection. Not only this year, but each Christmas to follow, the truly thoughtful husband will present his wife with the jewel-like beauty and needed efficiency of another Electrical Gift unit, attaining in time a completely electrified home.

Cooking Enjoyable.

Cooking is enjoyable "domestic science" when it can be accomplished by an electric range as efficient as a robot, never smoking up walls because it is flameless, equipped with an electric clock which automatically turns on to cook, off when foods are ready to serve, while mother is graciously entertaining or radiantly being entertained.

No electric appliance does more in the name of hospitality than the electric refrigerator, which is silent monitor of the kitchen, turning out palate tempting desserts, beverages, salads, conserving all foods.

The largest family's wash can be done in minutes—by electric washers which add quiet operation to speed, equipped to handle fragile lingerie or bulky blankets without taxing mother's energy And once the laundry is ready to be pressed, mother may sit at the electric ironer without unhealthful back-bending.

A whole staff of maids is equalled by the vacuum cleaner which has an attachment for every housecleaning purpose, even to the shampooing of rugs which needn't be removed from the floor. Heavy furniture need not be moved, when appropriate attachments can get under and around them; step ladders needn't be climbed dizzingly when the vacuum cleaner rod can reach the highest mouldings and even the ceilings.

It's fun to whip up a few delectable cake batters, or prepare vitamin-filled fruit juices with the electric mixer at hand on the cupboard shelf, along with the toaster, percolator, waffle iron and other electrical must-haves After dinner dishes are automatically washed and dried, electricially; garbage is automatically disposed of, electrically.

Electric Tree Now Plays Yule Music

In line with the trend towards musical Christmasses—what with the popularity of radios, phonographs and records as gifts—is an electric motor driven musical Christmas tree turntable.

The motor in the device causes the tree to revolve, the while a music box, assembled in the base, plays two different tunes. It is something which will be sure to add much brilliance to the holiday festivities in the home, not only this year, but for many years to come.

PARTY IN LAUNDRY ROOM

The gift of an electric laundry will appeal to "mother as hostess" as much as to "mother as housekeeper," for a modernized laundry room will make an ideal spot for the informal party, with the table top ironer acting as a handy serving bar while the tub provides convenient glass washing facilities.

Radio for All In Family In Santa's Pack

Almost every one of the people for whom you plan Christmas gifts this year would be delightfully and happily surprised if you were to select your gift to them from among the amazing variety of new radio receivers now on display.

That statement is true for every purse and purpose, for the instruments that can now be purchased at very modest outlays, transcend any values ever previously offered by the radio industry.

The statement also is true with respect to every personality, as well as purse and purpose, because the design of the new 1939 radios has been so specialized as to fit into almost any possible personal fancy.

Santa Stresses Radio.

Santa, therefore, is emphasizing radio receiving sets among his long and important list of Electrical Christmas gifts, and he is putting special emphasis on them, not only because of the variety of models, but because of the improvements that have been made in the new receivers.

These improvements, which invoke the perfection of automatic tuning, highly efficient tone control, pre-selection of programs, new far reaching, short wave reception, and mystery-like remote control, among others, stamp this Christmas as the ideal occasion for giving the home a gift in the form of a new radio to supplant the obsolete model now in the living room.

If it is to be a new radio for the living room, there are handsome consoles and chairside models to choose from and, in addition, one may want to consider the set in which a phonograph record player has been incorporated.

For specific members of the family there are "self-powered" portables, midget sets and table models to choose from, and with many of these, phonograph record players may be had built in.

With or without the phonograph record player, the scope of these small sets and the modest prices at which they are available make it possible for any family to get Junior that set he's wanted for his own room.

If there are grandparents in the home, a table model with automatic tuning, operating at the touch of a finger, would be a significant and appreciated Christmas gift. If there is a gay young son or daughter, one of the new portables might be the perfect answer to the gift problem for them.

Don't forget the automobile radio as you ponder gifts for loved ones. Whether dad is a traveling man or not, he would unquestionably enjoy having a new radio receiver for his car.

Here's Gift That Will Last for Years

A new compact kneehole desk with four roomy drawers down one side turns out to be an electric sewing machine when mother opens it up. It can be very appropriately placed in that spare room that is sometimes used as a sewing room and sometimes as a guest chamber.

It is a beautiful piece of furniture — made of selected hardwoods with attractive walnut veneer—and is a gift that will be cherished for many years.

Modern Kitchen Yule Gift for Life

Whatever gives mother more comfort and greater ease every day in the year makes a Christmas gift truly worth while. In many a home this Christmas mother's gift will be planned, all-electric kitchen that will save work, save footsteps, and contribute to her better health and happiness every day of her life.

A planned kitchen means the arrangement of modern electrical equipment in the order of its use, with convenient storage space and work counters, easily cleaned floor, walls and other surfaces, and adequate lighting. There is no reason, either, why it should not be as attractive and cheerful as any other room in the house.

Planning Fundamental.

Planning is fundamental to the modern kitchen. It is the first step to take. No matter what modern electrical appliance is provided to make kitchen work easier, it must be remembered that its location is a part of the service it renders. Each must be placed in relation to the other appliances and to the necessary cabinets and work counters in order to give its fullest efficiency in operation.

It is not necessary for the husband to be a kitchen planning expert in order to surprise his wife with a planned kitchen. Almost every utility company and many electrical appliance dealers everywhere today provide a complete service to plan kitchens for their customers. The men and women who conduct these services understand all the principles involved.

They know where to place each appliance to gain its maximum efficiency. They know how much cabinet space to provide for families of different sizes, in different localities and in various economic groups.

They will avoid the mistakes that the inexperienced homemaker might make in attempting to remodel her own kitchen, and plan a kitchen that is efficient, attractive and completely up-to-date in every respect.

Those who want mother to have all the advantages, comforts and conveniences of the modern, planned kitchen this Christmas would do well first to call on their appliance dealer or utility company for advice and help in preparing the plans. In this way mistakes will be avoided, and mother will have what you want her to have—all the time-saving, work-saving, step-saving conveniences and joys that a scientifically planned modern all-electric kitchen will give her.

And remember there is always a financing service which makes it possible for you to make extended payments for this lasting gift de luxe.

Kitchen Scene On Christmas Morning

Will there be a delighted wife and mother in your home Christmas morning? One certain formula for insuring duplication of the above picture in your kitchen Christmas morning, is to surprise your wife with an electric range. Automatic in their operation and responsive to time adjustments, they give the woman amazing freedom from constant attendance on food as it is being cooked. They function "coolly and without flame, and their modern design contributes much to converting the old fashioned kitchen into a modern workshop for a modern woman.

Irons Automatic And Streamlined

It has been said that the smartest women are those who are most careful of their personal possessions, and it is these very women who will most appreciate the gift of a new, improved automatic iron this Christmas.

Ranging in size from the tiny traveler to the largest for bed and table linens, the new electric irons have almost all taken to streamlined design.

They are faster, because they are so shaped that they can get into corners, around embroidery and fragile laces, without slower ironing speed; they are lighter to handle; they are cooler to operate and make the task less wearisome; they have temperature controls to adapt them to the filmiest sheer silks or the richest texture woolens, and they provide the safe way to iron rayon and other fabrics.

ELECTRICITY FOR MOUTH

Gifts Can Simplify Breakfast Rush

The lady of the household is confronted with many breakfast problems whose solution may be found in an electrical gift which will take care of everyone's favorite breakfast dish, and take the rush out of one of the otherwise complicated hours of the day.

All the family will get its share of fruit juice easily, with an electric extractor on hand to quickly supply glasses full. The children must have their eggs, boiled in an electrically timed egg maker, scrambled or fried on the grill.

Waffles made crispy brown on the electric waffle iron will be a happy treat, and that important cup of coffee will help start the day right, if it is made perfectly and kept at just the right temperature in an electric percolator.

Solves Yule Food Storage Problem

The problem of how to find room in the refrigerator for the Christmas turkey or suckling is solved by practically all of the new refrigerators.

Buffet Service Appliances Pleasing Gift

Dear to the heart of almost every woman are the things which make it possible for her to be a charming and admired hostess. That is why the electrical table cookery appliances, which have been so artfully designed, assume such an important place on any Christmas Gift list.

They make possible that gracious American habit of informal service in the living room or the dining room, as one may choose, to crown a gay evening, or to put the finishing touches on a bridge party. They make possible the delicious snack served up to unexpected guests. They make it possible for the hostess to be ever ready to entertain her friends, and that is why, perhaps, the appliances are so endeared to her.

Take the hostess tray, for example, that happy combination of toaster or hot sandwich maker, serving dishes and bread trimmer. All that's needed in the way of additional equipment to finish off the delicious repast that is possible with one of these trays on a moment's notice, is some hot coffee—and the variety of electrically operated coffee makers or complete coffee services, is great enough to suit any taste also.

Buffet Entertaining.

The once commonplace electrical roaster, which, when it first was introduced, was hailed as so convenient a home appliance, has now been rescued from the kitchen by the electrical appliance designers. It has become the major piece of equipment for the happiest of buffet suppers. Redesigned for beauty it may rest on the sideboard or the dining room table, and direct from its steaming interior may be served more than one hot dish. There's a gift of the finest kind for the woman who entertains.

The complete list of table cookery appliances designed nowadays to be as practical as they are now beautiful is long indeed, and bears close examination on the part of those who have a gift to buy for a woman this Christmas.

Consider for a moment the electric waffle iron, the automatic toaster as separate from the hostess tray, the chafing dishes and the egg cookers, the food warmers and the tea services.

There is hardly a feminine desire that cannot be fulfilled, so long as that woman is a hostess. And the range or appliances is equally flexible with respect to the gift giving budget, for price will depend somewhat on the size and capacity of the appliance or the elaborateness of its decorativeness.

TOY SERVES ART

An educational toy which may help to discover latent artistic abilities in junior is an electric pencil for burning designs in wood, leather, cork or velvet.

Gift Suggestions If It's For a Man.

ELECTRIC SHAVER—for the busy executive who doesn't have much time to get ready in the morning and for every other man. No more blades to make nicks in those wrinkles that are beginning to show on dad's face.

ELECTRICAL TOOL SET—Makes it a pleasant hobby instead of a troublesome chore for dad to tend to those minor repairs needed around the house.

AIR CONDITIONER—for dad's office. Means that work will take much less "out of him" in both winter and summer. And more clients will flock to his comfortable office, too.

"SILENT" RADIO—When dad wants to stay up all night listening to distant stations, he can do so without keeping mother awake. He's the only one who can hear with this new device.

ELECTRIC CLOCK—for his office desk. Time, and accurate time, is very valuable to him and he doesn't want to fuss with winding a clock either. Styles to suit his personality, some combined with electric calendars.

DESK LAMP—for his office. Some most attractive styles are available, combined with other handsome and functional office equipment that he will be overjoyed at having.

Gifts That Save Work For Mother.

ELECTRIC LAUNDRY—including a washer and ironer to convert the most burdensome of household tasks into a health-saving, money-saving, clothes-saving automatic process.

ELECTRIC RANGE—so that mother can cook the evening meal with a minimum of tending. It's clean and automatic. No flames and no overheated kitchen.

SEWING MACHINE — makes sewing easier, smoother, and quicker. Mother will find that she can make so many more things during her spare time than she could before.

MIXER—does so many unexpected things in addition to mixing (like stirring and juicing) that it practically eliminates manual labor in the preparation of dinner.

TOASTER—with the increasing popularity of toast, not only for breakfast but for other meals, afternoon snacks, entertaining, etc., mother will want a new automatic one that needs no watching.

ROASTER—not only can mother cook an entire meal in it; she can also serve the piping hot food from it—right at the table. An attractive, streamlined appliance.

VACUUM CLEANER—means quick, thorough, dustless cleaning and a much happier mother. Comes with necessary equipment for a host of cleaning operation.

RADIO—Mother spends so much time in the kitchen. Why not get her a small radio to match the kitchen decoration and provide endless diversion while she tends to monotonous chores.

Here Are Suggested Gifts For Baby.

BOTTLE WARMER—to solve mother's problem of warming baby's milk or other food and also to keep the bottle warm for some time. It comes in especially handy in the cold weather.

SUN LAMP—is almost a necessity for the modern baby. Prevents rickets; insures proper development of bones, and builds up resistence against colds and a host of other ailments.

ELECTRIC MUSIC BOX — spares mother or father the painful duty of having to pace the floor on cold wintry nights to lull a restless baby to sleep.

RUBBER BLADED FAN—insures proper ventilation in baby's room as well as absolute safety for wandering baby fingers that happen to come in contact with the blades of the fan.

Check These For The Girl Friend.

BED LAMP—There's no luxury quite like reading in bed. And when one lives alone, it's something that may be indulged in frequently. An appreciated gift.

CURLING IRON—so that your girl's hair can be just as pretty as any movie star's—and without putting any strain on her budget.

HAIR DRYER—so that she can save money and time by shampooing her hair at home. Eliminates risk of colds that one often takes when doing one's own hair.

SUNLAMP—to help her keep that healthy tan.

VIBRATOR—rubs out aches and pains by limbering up those muscles. For most purposes it is possible for the user to operate it by himself.

HEATING PAD—to warm up on cold nights. Excellent for rheumatic pains and aches. It is something that will be appreciated by an elderly person.

For The Woman Who Entertains.

HOSTESS TRAY — complete with electric grill or toaster and serving dishes. Ideal for serving snacks at informal parties or for more elaborate entertaining.

WAFFLE IRON—Waffles taste good anytime—but especially at midnight, to wind up a successful party. And they are so easy to prepare by electricity. Every home should have two.

SANDWICH MAKER—makes delicious grilled sandwiches and can also be used for frying bacon and eggs. An attractive appliance that looks well right out on the buffet.

FOOD WARMER — keeps a whole meal warm without making it taste all dried up. Just the thing to keep dinner fresh when guests are arriving late.

ROASTER—the kind that operates electrically is a whole little modern kitchen in itself, and handsome enough to be brought right out before the guests, to be served from. Keeps food warm, too.

Broadcasts Christmas Spirit

NEW AMERICAN TRADITION becomes firmly established as the years go on with exterior as well as interior illumination of home for the Yuletide. The doorway pictured above silently broadcasts the Christmas spirit of "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men" through the dark of night, by means of brightly shining vari-hued electric light bulbs. Completely planned kits of specially wired sockets for which colored bulbs may be had, are available on the market to make this type of decoration easily possible for every householder. Photo from Noma.

Electric Shaver 'Tops' as Yule Gift for Men

Occupying first place among this year's gifts for the male is the electric shaver, that product of modern ingenuity which solves, at long last, man's oldest and most bothersome problem of personal grooming.

It means that this is going to be a very merry Christmas for the whole family as they receive their holiday kiss from a daddy who has actually taken out a couple of moments for an effortless, lightning-fast removal of that daily growth of stubble before proceeding—pajama-clad— to greet them at the Christmas tree.

Nor need mother have misgivings about the rather unconventional part of the house daddy chooses in which to attend to his tonsorial duties, for there's no water, lather, cream, lotion, nor powder to make a mess.

But it's dad, himself, who is going to be most enthusiastic about this long-lasting gift.

Day in and day out he'll be getting clean, barber-like shaves in but a fraction of the time the old method took; he'll be thanking his lucky stars (and you, too) that he no longer has to suffer the burning, the irritation, and the abrasion caused by the old way; and—not least important—there'll be an end to troublesome periodical expenditures for blades, shaving creams, and all the other toilet articles needed for the old, conventional shave.

So adaptable are the new electric shavers that they can be used with equal success on a heavy beard and on a light one, on a delicate skin and on a tough one, on the fuzz-covered chin of junior who is in his last year in high school and on the wrinkled face of grandpa.

Perfect Gift

SUNBEAM—The round shaving head on Sunbeam's Shavemaster may be passed over the face in any direction. The cutter rotates with half circle action.

Candles Give Way To Bulbs as Yule Tree Decorations

A major symbol of the Yuletide, and second only to the cheery face of Old Saint Nick himself, is the colorfully bedecked and gaily lighted Christmas tree.

But once upon a time, when only wax candles and their dangerous flame, were available for lighting its dark green branches, the Christmas tree occasionally and tragically converted the height of gayety into a horrible disaster.

This hazard is gone forever for most homes, with the perfection of electrically operated Christmas tree illumination which needs only be plugged into the baseboard outlet, and then strung at will over the limbs of the evergreen to produce a brilliance far more beautiful than the pale yellow of candle light ever made possible.

Complete sets of all-wired Christmas tree illumination are now available to suit almost any fancy. Vari-colored bulbs, simulating if you wish, the old style candles are to be had. They come in many sizes to fit tiny sockets of minute enough weight to be easily born by the thin limbs of any tree.

Best of all, the electrical illumination for Christmas trees, available in single packages, may be saved from year to year, and thus an economy is effected. They can be added to from year to year also, so that when the family grows more numerous and a larger tree is required, a comparatively small expenditure will enable you to add to already available equipment and complete the decoration.
